

GOV. WILLIS ISSUES MOTHERS' DAY PROCLAMATION

Columbus, May 1.—Governor Willis today issued a proclamation calling the people of Ohio to observe Sunday, May 9, as Mothers' Day "in memory of our mothers, living and dead." He urged that every person wear a white flower on that day.

"If mother is living, have you seen or written her lately?" the governor asked. "It not do so on Mother's Day. Smooth out the wrinkled brow of care and let mother know of your appreciation and affection. If she has gone away, cheerish her sacred memory in forgetting devotion. Whether in joy or sorrow, in success or failure, the mother spirit is always with us. Other friends may fail, her affection is boundless, her devotion unswerving." The proclamation read in part:

"On memory's canvas, the picture of mother are as varied as the hues of the rose, yet as lasting and changeless as its perfume. The infinite variety of human personality is excelled only by the infinite unity of mother love.

"The tongueless speech of mother love gave comfort and strength for the stormy voyage just beginning. As we have steered our ship by the chart and compass of mother's advice, we have succeeded; as we, forgetting that safe guide, have tried to sail our tiny craft on uncharted seas, we have failed. Weary and tempest-tossed though we may be, the guiding star of mother's admonitions will bring our ship on smiling seas and safe into the harbor at last.

"In memory of our mothers, living or dead, I request that Sunday, May 9, be appropriately observed by all the people of Ohio as mothers' day as a token of her purity and constancy. I urge that every resident of the state wear on that day a white carnation or some other white flower; and I earnestly suggest that on Sunday, May 9, the national colors be appropriately displayed on all public buildings, and that mayors of municipalities heartily cooperate to give the widest observance to this occasion wherein all may honor themselves by paying proper tribute of respect and affection to our mothers."

WOMEN AND CHILDREN FLEE FROM DUNKIRK; MORE SHELLS DROPPED

FRENCH PORT BOMBARDED SECOND TIME

Berne, Switzerland, May 1.—(Via Paris).—The Federal council decided today to call out the sixth division of the Swiss army.

Folkestone, England, May 1.—Refugees arriving here from Dunkirk, France, report that six shells from the German 17-inch guns fell in Dunkirk Friday evening at intervals of ten minutes. Considerable damage was done to the town. The women and children are leaving Dunkirk in large numbers.

This is the second bombardment of this port, the first having been reported yesterday as having occurred on Thursday.

FEDERAL ARBITRATION AWARD NOT SATISFACTORY TO RAILROAD MEN

Chicago, May 1.—Disapproval of the arbitration awarded made to about 64,000 locomotive engineers, firemen and hostlers employed on 98 railroads operating west of Chicago, was expressed today by W. S. Stone, grand chief of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers.

"The engineers have gained practically nothing by this award," Mr. Stone said. "There are approximately 34,000 engineers in the western territory and on not more than 3,000 of these have the engineers gained an increase in wages and that increase is so slight that it amounts to practically nothing. We had better rules before than those granted us by this award."

The award, which becomes effective today and is binding for one year only, was signed here last night after a six months hearing on the question held by the federal board of arbitration. The two railroad members of the board declined to sign the award and immediately filed a dissenting opinion on behalf of the Brotherhood of Engineers, branding the arbitration as a failure. It was declared that the demands of the men would be taken anew twelve months hence. Judge J. C. Pritchard, of Richmond, Va., chairman of the board, in a statement explained that he thought the men in certain branches were

IRON WORKERS JOIN IN CHICAGO STRIKE

Chicago, May 1.—May first was ushered into Chicago today with the most serious labor situation in the building industry in fifteen years. By the addition of 1,200 bridge and structural iron workers, the list of union working men on strike or locked out was swelled to 32,200 as follows:

Carpenters (construction) 13,000; carpenters (mill men) 5,000; sheet metal workers, 1,800; lathers, 800; painters, 10,400; structural iron workers, 1,000.

The strike of the iron workers forced idleness on several thousand others in allied trades, bringing the number of idle because of strikes and lockouts up to 125,000. The strike of the carpenters is said to be the keynote of the whole situation. If peace negotiations now on with them are successful, it is generally believed that others will fall in line.

Cincy Ice Men Will Rest On Sunday Now

Cincinnati, May 1.—Five hundred ice men will enjoy the first summer Sabbath holiday tomorrow.

Eighty thousand families in Cincinnati and vicinity will, for the first time in the history of the city, be without ice on Sunday, the first day of the ice strike, alone excepted, the inability to get ice on Sunday, except upon the order of a physician or by going to a plant and carrying it home themselves.

About 95 Cincinnati ice dealers will practically shut up shop Sunday for the first time. The operation of the new anti-ice delivery ordinance will mean that 2,000,000 pounds of ice, the average Sunday deliveries to residences during the summer months, will not be delivered.

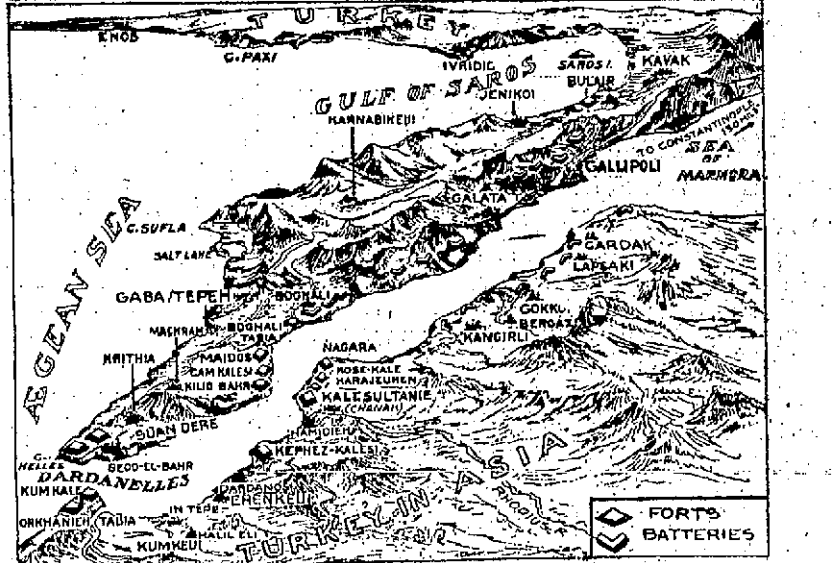

CONFEDERATE GENERAL AT DEATH'S DOOR

Charleston, W. Va., May 1.—Gen. Chas. P. Peyton, 73, the only surviving Confederate field officer of the battle of Gettysburg, is in a serious condition at his home in Ronover, W. Va., as a result of a stroke of paralysis and little hope for his recovery was held out today. General Peyton is commander of the West Virginia division of the United Confederate Veterans.

Berlin To Use Oxen

Berlin, (Via London) May 1.—Oxen may soon take the place in this city of many of the truck horses which have been requisitioned for military purposes. The police have abrogated the ordinance which prohibited their use in the city and the first yoke seen in the streets in many years appeared today.

WHERE ALLIED TROOPS HAVE LANDED TO ATTACK TURKISH FORTS

Kum Kale, where the French have landed, is at the Asiatic point of entrance to the Dardanelles. Sighia Dere, another point of landing, while not on the latest map of the region, is said to be just east of Sogud El-Bahr across the Strait from Kum Kale. Gaba Tepeh, a third landing point, is on the other coast of the Gallipoli Peninsula.

FAMOUS DIVA VISITS FRANK

Gertrude Farrar.

Atlanta, Ga., May 1.—It became known here today that Gertrude Farrar, of the Metropolitan Opera Company, appearing here this week, visited Leo M. Frank, under death sentence, in his cell in the Fulton county jail late yesterday and discussed his case with him for almost an hour.

Miss Farrar went to the jail accompanied only by her traveling companion, and every precaution was taken to prevent her visit or its official becoming public.

Frank and his attorneys today declined to say anything about the purpose of her call.

Russian Steamer Is Sunk

London, May 1.—The Russian 2,000 tons steamer Svorobov, bearing Welsh coal to Archangel, a Russian port on the White Sea, was torpedoed and sunk by a German submarine believed to be the U-28, on Friday at noon near the Black Islands, on the west coast of Ireland.

The Svorobov's crew of 24 men, mostly Russians, barely had time to take to the boats when the vessel sank. All were rescued by a patrol boat.

Officer Osborn was off duty Friday night on account of sickness in his family.

AMERICANS WARNED BY GERMAN EMBASSY OF DANGERS ON OCEAN

Washington, D. C., May 1.—In an official notice published by the German embassy in every important city of the United States this morning, Americans were given renewed warning that they travel on ships flying the flags of Germany's enemies at their own risk.

While the notice was regarded among officials and diplomats as nothing more than a repetition of Germany's first warning given when the war zone about the British Isles was announced there was much interest in whether it foreshadowed increased activity of German submarines or possibly had to do with movements of the German fleet has been variously reported of late cruising in the North Sea.

Now the state department will regard the notice as a question open to some doubt. When the first notice of the submarine blockade was given the Washington government made representations to Berlin giving notice that American lives and property must not be endangered.

MAYOR SPIEGEL DOESN'T FAVOR "CLOSED" SUNDAY

Cincinnati, May 1.—Police and will not be lent to the Sunday closing league which seeks to close groceries and meat shops on Sundays.

Mayor Spiegel and Safety Director Holmes today took a stand against the effort to close groceries and meat stores on Sundays. Unless the courts rule otherwise no arrests or prosecutions will be made by the police in the Sunday closing campaign.

Mayor Spiegel said Saturday: "I shall not permit the police to be used in depriving people of articles of necessity on Sunday or any other day. I feel very strongly on this subject. I shall refuse to order the police to act in this Sunday closing movement. Groceries, meat stores and similar places deal in articles which are necessary to life. I believe I would not be true to my duty if I were to make these articles inaccessible to the people."

DANVILLE DRY

Danville, Ill., May 1.—Danville was voted dry by the city council in special meeting today for the first time in the history of the county. The council was called in special meeting to act on the renewal of licenses of 73 saloons which expired at midnight last night.

At the recent township election the vets were victorious by more than 1500 majority. Another election can be held in a year.

BOMBS DID DAMAGE TO AMERICAN STEAMSHIP

Washington, May 1.—American Minister Van Dyke at The Hague, reported to the state department today that the American steamer Cushing from Philadelphia for Rotterdam, was damaged by bombs dropped from German air craft in the North Sea but that no lives were lost.

CHANGES HER TESTIMONY IN PERJURY CASE

New York, May 1.—Miss Rae Tanzer, the young milliner who sued James W. Osborne for $50,000 for alleged breach of promise to marry and later withdrew her suit, saying Mr. Osborne was not the man who courted her under the name of Oliver Osborne, changed her testimony again today and under oath identified James W. Osborne as her admirer, Oliver Osborne.

Miss Tanzer's renewed identification came while she was under cross-examination by Assistant United States District Attorney Roger B. Wood. She had been on the stand most of yesterday and this morning as a witness for the defense in the trial of Frank D. Sefford, former clerk in the Kensington hotel in Plainfield, N. J., for perjury in connection with the breach of promise case.

Miss Tanzer, on advice of her counsel, had refused to answer many questions put to her on direct examination regarding the identity of the "Oliver Osborne" who had promised to marry her.

When Mr. Wood took up cross-examination, questioning her with severity, Miss Tanzer apparently lost her temper and forgetting the instructions of counsel said:

"Yes, James W. Osborne is the man I was running around with."

"Do you mean to say," Miss Tanzer, asked Mr. Wood, "that the man you saw at 115 Broadway (James W. Osborne's office) was Oliver Osborne?"

"Yes, I do," said Miss Tanzer.

"Now, Miss Tanzer, do you mean to say that this is the man you were running around with as 'Oliver Osborne'?" asked Mr. Wood, pointing to Mr. Osborne, whom he asked to rise.

Miss Tanzer hesitated as James W. Osborne rose to his feet. She glanced at Mr. Osborne for a moment and said:

"Yes, that is the man."

Mr. Osborne smiled broadly at this assertion and then sat down.

In the absence of authentic figures it was estimated that more than 3,000 persons had reserved sailings today.

FREE; POSSE IS PURSUING

(BULLETIN)

Three men, who it is claimed were Schneider, Sheets and Nichols were seen near Coal Branch just below Greenup, Saturday. The posse followed them, but the men soon disappeared in the hills in that vicinity.

A search prosecuted with vigor Friday night and Saturday morning, in which Greenup citizens joined with the officials, failed to reveal the whereabouts of Hower Schneider, Leonard Nichols and William Sheets, who broke jail at Greenup yesterday afternoon.

Two men who it was first thought were two of the jail breakers were held at Russell last night, but were soon released as they fail to answer the descriptions of Nichols, Sheets or Schneider.

When last seen the men, who are charged with stealing brass from the C. & O., were three miles west of Greenup. It is believed that they either boarded a west-bound C. & O. freight train or crossed into Ohio. This theory was advanced Saturday by Deputy Sheriff Harvey Elam. The searching party is headed by Sheriff Mae Arthur, and in the posse are some of Greenup's best known citizens; who, it is said, are armed for whatever trouble may present itself.

Included in the posse besides Sheriff Arthur and Deputy Sheriff Elam are Jailer James Stewart, his son, Basil Stewart, Cecil Willis, Tom Herron and John McLaughlin. Sheriff Arthur and Basil Stewart boarded a C. & O. train Saturday morning and went to St. Paul to make a search for the alleged brass thieves, who effected a successful jail delivery.

C. & O. detectives have joined in the search and a systematic and determined effort is being made to round up the jail breakers. Detective Abbott, of the C. & O., was here and in South Portsmouth Saturday making inquiries about the sensational incident. Sheets is the man, who, with Bud Logan, had a running pistol battle in Kentucky with C. & O. detectives a few days ago.

ond game will be played by the East End team vs. the Kendall avonue club. The umpires will be Ratcliffe and Wagner.

WILLIAM WEST CHOSEN FOR ELECTION BOARD

William West, 812 John street, was endorsed for appointment as member of the county board of supervisors of elections to succeed the late Dr. J. B. Ray by the Democratic county central committee, which met Saturday afternoon at the office of the chairman, Horace L. Small.

Mr. West's selection was made on the fifth ballot from a field of eight candidates. A rule was established at the opening of the meeting that the low candidate on each ballot would be dropped, and the field finally narrowed down to two candidates, Mr. West and George Lauter, of New Boston. The former nosed out ahead by a slight margin, the vote being 20 for West and 18 for Lauter.

The other candidates were: Jacob Yueniger, Clay township; Earl Burke, Green; Tiffin Collett; Vernon; Hiram Barney, Wheelersburg; J. S. Violet, Lucasville; and James Basham, of Sciotoville.

Thirty-nine members of the county committee were either present in person or represented by proxy. West's name will be certified immediately to the secretary of state for appointment, and his appointment is practically assured.

William West belongs to a large family of loyal Democrats, and has been active in promoting Democratic success at the polls. The selection met with general favor.

Fourth Ward Not Altogether Clean

Numerous recommendations to the Clean-Up Committee and to the city authorities will be made by the committee appointed to inspect the Fourth Ward, which performed its work today. A tour of inspection was made over the entire ward, and while numerous sections were found where the clean-up spirit was being put into practice, several places where filth and dirt abound were discovered.

The committee will call attention to a vault in the rear of the Stanley residence on Grant street, between Lincoln street and Franklin avenue, which, it is claimed, is in a bad condition. Also to the conditions of the alleys off Dexter avenue which are reported to be in a filthy condition.

Note was also made of an alley on Murray street back of Gallia street, which the committee claims was littered with paper and other debris.

The committee complains that it only noticed three or four closed garbage cans in that section, the most of them being open receptacles, veritable breeding places for flies and other insects. It will recommend that closed garbage cans, or boxes, be purchased or made.

Next week will be devoted to a general clean-up of the entire city, and the recommendations of the ward committees will be carried out wherever possible.

FEDERAL

entitled to greater advances than were awarded but that he was obliged to make concessions in order that an award might be made.

As explained by F. A. Burgess, representing the brotherhood the essential concessions to the men were:

One—Standardization of rates of pay on the weight of locomotives on drive wheels.

Two—Overtime pay to passenger firemen and engineers ranging from 44 to 75 cents an hour, respectively.

Three—Engineers of steam power may transfer to electric power when installed without loss of seniority rights after May 1, 1915. The board was unable because of the newness of electrical road service, to fix rates of pay in detail, but named four dollars and thirty cents a day as the minimum for motormen in passenger service and $2.50 for their helpers; $4.75 for motormen in freight service and $2.75 for helpers.

Four—Engineers of milk trains, circus trains and other irregular service such as pushers and helpers, receive the rates accorded on through freight, an increase amounting to from 10 to 15 per cent.

Five—The men will be paid for delay while in their cabs at initial and final terminals, and for time in excess of thirty minutes spent in preparing their engines for service.

Sixth—Switch engineers will receive an advance in daily pay of 25 cents on small engines, and 15 on large engines.

Seventh—Men held away from home terminals, shall after 22 hours idleness, receive a minimum day's pay of ten hours, based on last service out of each succeeding 24 hours until he gets a run.

Eighth—Through freight wage rates were advanced 5 to 20 cents, increasing with weight of engine, and 25 cents on some of the extremely heavy engines.

Nine—Way freight engineers will receive 30 cents a day more than through freight men.

Ten—Surprise tests will be conducted in such way as not to endanger lives, limbs or nerve.

Eleventh—Firemen will be assisted where assistance is available, in keeping coal forward, and the coal shall be broken into proper sizes at chutes.

Twelve—Where firemen on big engines deem an assistant necessary, the matter may, if necessary, be adjusted through arbitration.

Thirteen—Firemen will not be required to clean engines nor will engineers be required to fill grease cups, set up wedges or perform other minor duties about an engine where others are available to do the work.

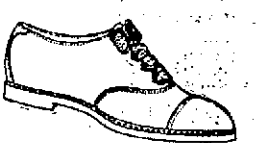

Fourteen—The weight on drive wheels of each engine shall be posted where the engineers can have convenient access to the information.

Among the requests which were not granted were automatic release, time and a half for overtime, in freight, and switching, and the five-hour day in passenger service. The award on the surprise test which was a matter of bitter contention in the course of the four months' hearing, was precisely as desired by the railroad, but Mr. Burgess listed it among the results satisfactory to the men.

"BUY AT HOME DOLLAR" MAKING THE ROUNDS

That Buy At Home Dollar has evidently suffered with the "spring fever" as it has not traveled very much within the past 24 hours. It probably is getting its second wind for another swing around the city. There has been much interest in the Buy At Home Dollar as is evidence by the frequent inquiries heard in all parts of the city as to where the dollar has been traveling. The dollar was received by Mrs. Fritz Dielman of the North End Friday afternoon and she spent it with Bobst & Huffman, North End grocers. Mrs. Dielman then went back and redeemed the dollar from Bobst and Huffman and spent it at P. E. Allen's grocery on Eleventh street. The dollar next made its appearance in Adam Pfau's bakery and it will soon disappear from there and continue its merry journey around the city.

GEORGE D. SELBY TALKS CONCERNING TRIP WEST

Greatly refreshed from a three months pleasant journey in California, Mr. and Mrs. George D. Selby arrived home Friday night. Mr. Selby talked entertainingly of his trip and its many enjoyable features at his office in the Selby factory building Saturday afternoon. The experience was not a new one for him nor his wife, as it was their third visit to the California country.

The major portion of their time was spent in Los Angeles, and was varied by almost daily automobile trips to points of interest in the vicinity of that beautiful resort. They visited both expositions, and Mr. Selby was extravagant in his praise of them.

"Taking into consideration the conditions in Europe, both San Francisco and San Diego are entitled to great credit for what they have accomplished. The war has affected both foreign and home exhibitors, but nevertheless, the expositions abound with wonderful exhibitions. Ohio has one of the most practical buildings at the San Francisco Exposition. Other states have more pretentious looking buildings, but none of them excel the Ohio building in convenience and comfort for visitors."

Upon their arrival in Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. Selby rented a single apartment in a large apartment building in the residence section of Los Angeles, their apartment containing a living room, dressing room, kitchenette, and bath room. The living room is converted into a bed room at night by unfolding the bed which is concealed within the wall during the day. The building contains fifty-one such apartments, some of them being double.

Their visit was made all the more enjoyable by having an automobile, which was shipped to them shortly after their arrival. Their automobile traveled 3200 miles while they were there on the finest roads to be found in the country. Mr. Selby devoted a good deal of time to investigating road building in California, and picked up some valuable ideas which he hopes at some future time to make known to those interested in road building in his home city.

Their longest trip by auto was about the middle of March when they traveled from Los Angeles to San Diego. Judge and Mrs. J. W. Bannion of this city, accompanied them. The distance to San Diego was 136 miles. Coming back, they took the inland, or mountain route, which is 195 miles long. Both distances were negotiated in a single day. Two trips to San Bernardino, a sixty-five mile away, were made by Mr. and Mrs. Selby, one time to witness the "Orange Show", one of the big annual events of that city.

Judging from his past experience and from the statements of residents, Mr. Selby thought that the climate at Los Angeles this year was the most ideal in years.

GRANDMA USED SAGE TEA TO DARKEN HAIR

She made up a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur to bring back color, gloss, thickness.

Common garden sage brewed into a tea with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant, remove every bit of dandruff, stop itching scalp and falling hair. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, gray or dry, scraggly and thin. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use tonic, costing about 50 cents a large bottle at drug stores, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," thus avoiding a lot of fuss.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not rich, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it does so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant.

Mayor Is Named

Mayor Frick received word Saturday of his appointment as one of thirty persons named from fifteen different states to form a permanent river terminal conference. The selections were made at the river terminal conference just held in St. Louis. The committee will organize at St. Louis some time this month. The object of the conference is to provide adequate terminal facilities and modern equipment for steamboat service on the Ohio and Mississippi rivers to New Orleans to offset the discrimination in rates favorable to the coastwise states brought about by the completion of the Panama canal.

VESSELS SUFFERED IN PACIFIC COAST STORM

San Francisco, May 1.—Three hundred passengers on the steamer Harvard, enroute from San Pedro to San Francisco, whose lives were in danger when the vessel was struck by a giant wave that badly damaged the second deck were congratulating themselves today on their safe return to port. Tons of water flowed through the gap opened by the wave and state rooms were partially flooded. The passengers were thrown into a panic and the Harvard was forced to put back to San Pedro.

Several vessels due to arrive yesterday had not put in an appearance early today, having been driven far out to sea by the storm of the last three days. Fears are entertained for the safety of the Norwegian steel ship Aggl.

TWO NEW CUTTERS TAKE FIRST DIP

Newport News, Va., May 1.—The coast guard service gains two important additions to its fleet of vessels by the launching here today of the cutters "Osage" and "Tallapoosa."

The two cutters were authorized by congress in June, 1914. The "Osage" at a cost of $225,000 and the "Tallapoosa" at $250,000. The Tallapoosa will replace the old cutter Winona, with headquarters at

BRYAN ASSAILS LIQUOR TRAFFIC IN N. Y. SPEECH

New York, May 1.—Secretary Bryan declared in an address under the auspices of the National Abolitionists' Union here last night that the European war had developed that even patriotism was no match for the appetite which alcohol cultivates in its victims. The secretary was urging total abstinence and referred to restrictive measures which some of the belligerent nations have taken against intoxicants.

"There has been a growing disposition in this country and throughout the world to emphasize the evils of strong drink," he said, "but even the most enthusiastic advocates of temperance have been surprised at the ghastly light which the war in Europe has thrown upon the subject. It has been found that patriotism, that compelling force which throughout the ages has led men to offer their lives for their country, is no match for the appetite which alcohol cultivates in its victims. Loyalty to Buechus, Gambirins and Barleycorn is greater than loyalty to King or Kaiser or Czar. The use of drink has been found to be so destructive of efficiency that the belligerent governments, not on moral grounds but purely on economic grounds, have been compelled to resort to restrictive measures. The aeroplane that drops its bomb from aloft and the submarine which shoots its torpedo from below are less to be feared than the schooner that crosses the bar."

COLON, PANAMA, HAS A $2,000,000 FIRE

Colon, Panama, May 1.—More than half of the city of Colon was swept by a disastrous fire which started shortly after two o'clock yesterday afternoon. Ten persons are known to be dead, including two native policemen and several hundred persons have been injured while between 10,000 and 12,000 others, mostly negroes, have been rendered homeless. The loss is estimated at about $2,000,000.

The fire destroyed twenty-two city blocks and was not controlled until twelve buildings in its path had been destroyed. Many arrests have been made for looting. The town is now under the guard of native police and two companies of the United States coast artillery who aided in fighting the fire.

Half the population have lost all their belongings. The fire started in the heart of the city and soon was beyond control of the native fire brigade. The wooden buildings, of which the town is almost exclusively constructed, burned like tinder. Most of the largest stores in Colon were directly in the path of the flames. The cause of the fire has not yet been learned.

All the banks of the city were destroyed and part of the railway station was burned.

Arrested By Police
William Bell, a negro, and Lincoln Martin, also colored, were taken into custody by the police Saturday afternoon following a racket at the woman's home, 1207 Waller street. She claimed he attacked her with a knife. Bell's story was that he lost $15 in the woman's house.

Putting Up Big Derrick.
The Mt. Vernon Bridge Company began erecting its largest derrick Saturday preparatory to starting active work on the super-structure of the new county bridge which is to span the Scioto river.

That the A. J. Martin Company is nearing the end of its contract on the sub-structure is evident from the fact that its working force has been reduced from 100 men to 20 men.

Ed Miller and W. H. Alcorn, of Buena Vista, were business visitors in the city Saturday.

J. B. Tracy, of Hales Creek, former county treasurer, was in the city shopping Saturday.

Turkey Was Called "Indian Fowl."
The turkey, so far as records are known, was introduced into England in 1524, brought probably from the port of Cadix, where ships trading with the Orient were accustomed to call. In nearly all countries, inclusive of Spain, and even Turkey itself, this bird is called the "Indian fowl."

THE GET TOGETHER DINNER.

We do not quite get the contention of The Star that because our cartoonist is having a little fun with the prospective banquet of the Get-Together League of would-be office holders, we are thereby, with malice aforethought, seeking to injure a circulation campaign The Star has on. Nor do we see wherein we are thereby, "knocking" the statesmen from abroad who are to be present. If we compared some of these prospective guests to a "dead louse" as The Star did the president of the United States recently, the "knocking" allegation might be well founded, but in the meantime, we may be dense, but we cannot find the knocking. As for The Star's circulation or other campaign, it is not our understanding, from the proclamation of the get-together feed that it is the intention to bring our governor and our senator here in the role of solicitors for The Star but for the general rejuvenation and rehabilitation of the Republican party locally, in the district and elsewhere too numerous to mention. On the latter basis we insist that the supposed or real ulterior motives of some of the promoters are legitimate subjects for comment.

As for The Star itself we can only repeat what we have said heretofore. We have neither ambition nor desire to monopolize the local journalistic field. We have been attending strictly to our own business of getting out a newspaper and we expect to continue to do so. We would not seek to injure The Star or any other opposition financially or otherwise. They have the same right to exist that we have, the same right to compete for public favor. It is not to be expected that we will agree upon all matters, or see all things alike, and when we do disagree that is one of the things that comes in the course of business and does not imply lack of personal cordiality or good feeling.

No, we have no bad thoughts, nothing but good wishes for The Star. We hope the paper realizes the expectations and hopes of its management, for we have been through the mill and know how it goes.

As for our cartoons, we find the community, even those seated at the tables thoroughly enjoying them. And there will be a few more.

IT TAKES TIME.

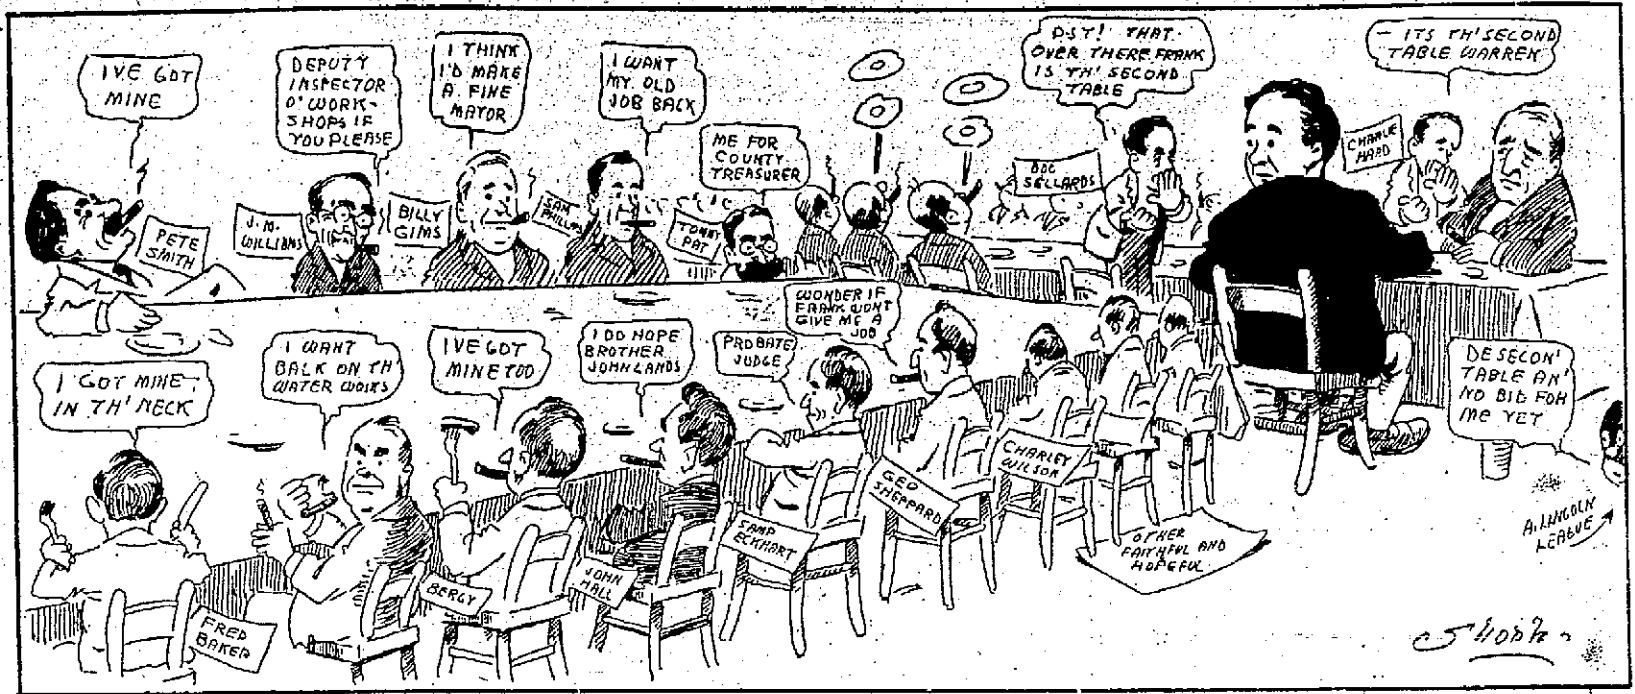

In a town of near eight thousand inhabitants a federal government expert conducted, this week, a cannibal school. Its purpose was to teach people, especially women and housekeepers the economics of food stuffs. Not solely, as the name of the school would imply, how to can products, but how to most conserve and economize in the preservation and use of food stuffs.

In definite and immediate results the school could scarcely be termed a success, or any success at all in fact. The attendance was quite satisfactory, but a large portion, say about nine-tenths of the "pupils" set themselves in antagonism to the professor. New fangled methods did not commend themselves and, therefore, the major mind was not in the temper to be materially profited. She who believes there is nothing better than a certain way because it was done that way by her mother, or for "a thousand years" is not apt to be an apt scholar.

Still, it can not be correctly argued the school was a dismal failure. Nothing is so difficult as changing the habits and ways of the masses, but there were those, mostly young housekeepers, who had an earnest purpose, who confessed their lack of accomplishment and were sincerely anxious to learn. It was easy for them to receive the thought that a great government would not put out a fake, nor deliberately impose upon its own people. What it offered must be established by experiment and results. With intensity they drank in the lessons and demonstrations and what they learned will hereafter be brought into their own work and expanded. In the course of time the custom and habit of the people will develop from them and thus the work of the school actually benefited. It might be Portsmouth could secure the school, and here where the question of the servant girl is constantly growing more acute its lessons ought to be particularly advantageous.

Every G. O. P. organ in the state is running a canned article a column long, giving forth exultation over the achievement of the Willis administration. And what think you is the basis of that boasted achievement? Nothing more, nothing less, as the advertisement says, than a paragraph from the Scripps-McRae newspapers, saying the assembly deserves credit because it will not vote upon some seven hundred bills introduced in it.

GET TOGETHER CLUB BANQUET NO. 5---INTRODUCING THE SECOND TABLE

LOOKING FOR A CAR.

In a town we know but the the name of which it is not necessary to mention, there are a man and a wife, who are enjoying one of the greatest, at least one of the most raging, of modern luxuries and it isn't costing them a cent, beyond the twenty-five that they originally laid out to come into full enjoyment of that for which others pay hundreds and even thousands of dollars.

The man is real shifty, in no wise dishonest, but ever managing to get more for his money than the average person. He is not the owner of an automobile, but he would like to be and means to be, and he is going about acquiring ownership after his own peculiar methods. Through the medium of an advertisement he let it be known that he was in the market for a used automobile. He is learning a good deal and his days and even his nights are filled with pleasure. He knows now that about seven out of ten men having automobiles want to get rid of them—to get a new one, and everyone has undeniably the best, that he is still willing to dispose of at a tremendous sacrifice. It is borne upon him how solicitous and obliging are his friends, when they have something to sell, or more accurately when there is a buyer in sight, and ditto how clever the stranger. No trouble whatever to take him and wife a little spin and they have been to this town and to that and they are going to others. This they will keep up until the man sees a real bargain in a car. Then he will snap it up at once and becoming an auto owner himself he will be not one whit more obliging or clever than those he is haggling with before they knew he was a prospective buyer.

Oh, trouble ahead for that new bald headed congressman of ours. The Susan B. Anthony Suffragette club of Washington, D. C., has decided to send a strong delegation of suffragettes to interview and labor with each congressman prior to the assembling of the new congress. We can give the Susan B's a better tip than that. Why not have the local Susanites wait en masse upon Congressman Charlie when he drops into Portsmouth to attend that Dollar feed of patriots in honor of our great and grand young governor?

Mercy, me! Here were these well furers and up-lifters whang-doodling around we must have swimming pools in school buildings to keep the pupils clean and healthy and now come a lot of physicians and others and say we must keep the swimming pool clean, or it is the worst evil ever invented. Which just reminds us life is one spasm and then another.

One day our good young governor announces he was not chosen to and will not run the assembly; the next day, he announces he was elected on certain pledges and they must be redeemed by the assembly. Thereupon in its fool way the assembly proceeds to fill the orders of our good young governor.

Ignorance of the law is no excuse, neither is it a defence against crime, but really that is no reason why the legislature should go unhung for passing laws that none of its members know a whit of.

Portsmouth, Virginia, is going to try a new form of government in the hopes of getting a better one. What's the matter with trying better men to run the government? Form is nothing, it's results that count.

A lot of fellows, who are hoping to get their feet under the pie counter are making a deal of fuss about a banquet to be given locally to Harding and Willis. Not a mother's son of them is moving a peg to get state aid for Scioto county roads.

For nine full months the European war has waged and yet not one military leader of overshadowing brilliance has it brought forth. Von Hindenburg stands out the highest of all up to date.

Suggest A Fence

In answer to complaints about children from the Rowe tenement house on Eighth street below Washington trespassing upon the premises of neighbors the city has advised the erection of a partition fence. It is also suggested that the Rowe property be improved with a new cement sidewalk.

The Worker

He wasn't feeling very well, he had an aching head, He really would have liked to rest, but went to work instead; He didn't stop to whisper, and he didn't pause to whine, He passed up all excuses, and he smashed into the line. He could have loafed but didn't and he finished up the day With another task accomplished and his aches all blown away.

He had many things to fret him, when he rose to start the day, There were many little voices urging him to stay away, And they whispered: "You have reasons that are splendid now to rest, You are in a poor condition, and you'll never do your best"; But he buckled on his armor, and he plunged into the fight, And he got back home at night.

He knew what he was after, and he sought it, rain or shine, He didn't labor only on the days his health was fine, No simple ache could stop him; he went right on sawing wood, And when little worries fretted, he just did the best he could; He never looked for reasons to escape the tasks that came, When he might have loafed, he didn't, but went out and played at the game.

If he possessed the fighting spirit, he was bound to reach the top, He was not the sort of worker that is always quick to stop, He was not the sort of fellow that is glad to lose a day, That rejoices in a reason that is good to stay away, But he answered aches and worry with a like amount of pluck, And when he rose to glory, people spoke about his luck.

Says Cream Applied in Nostrils
Relieves Head-Colds at Once.

If your nostrils are clogged and your head is stuffed and you can't breathe freely because of a cold or catarrh, just get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm at any drug store. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic cream into your nostrils and let it penetrate through every air passage of your head, soothing and healing the inflamed, swollen mucous membrane and you get instant relief.

But how good it feels. Your nostrils are open, your head is clear, no more hawking, sniffling, blowing, no more headache, dizziness or struggling for breath. Ely's Cream Balm is just what sufferers from head-colds and catarrh need. It's a delight.

A Diamond Engagement Ring

There is one thing distinctive about Carr diamonds—leaving aside all thought of size, price, etc.—and that is their quality consistency. Whether you buy the modest $25 ring, or go higher—$50, $100, $200, $500, or more—the same quality prevails. Except as to size no one Carr diamond is better or worse than another—all are the finest procurable. This is the reason for the universal acceptance of the Carr engagement ring, whatever its size, as of unsurpassable quality. This is why you will buy a Carr ring, or wish afterwards that you had.

The Markets

WEEKLY SUMMARY OF THE MARKETS

New York, May 1.—Some reduction of activity was observed in this week's operations in the stock market but the volume of business at every session was large enough to warrant the belief that public interest remains keen. More than a fair proportion of the trading was in shares of the "war contract" companies, notably Westinghouse Electric and Motor Equipment and Industrial companies, which recorded gains of five to almost twenty points.

Standard stocks of the sort that made their appeal to conservative investor were relatively dull and recorded declines of two to five points from best prices of a fortnight ago. United States Steel led the more important industrials, rising to within a fraction of its high figure of the year, despite a rather adverse showing for the first quarter. Coppers kept up with the successive advances in the leading price of the metal but yielded later, largely as a result of the break in quotations abroad.

Europe was a constant seller here but not to a very considerable extent. The success of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas note extension plan, with prospects for a similar outcome in connection with the affairs of the Missouri Pacific road contributed to a better tone among the low priced rail ways.

Free absorption of the Baltimore and Ohio $40,000,000 note issue was regarded as proof of the sound investment demand. New financing by other roads and some industrial companies is believed to be under negotiation.

New York Stock
New York, May 1.—Active speculation in war specialties and allied stocks was resumed today, trading in two hour session being voted almost entirely to those issues, while better known investment shares were pushed into the bank ground, where they dropped on moderate selling pressure. Westinghouse Electric was again the special feature although it failed to reach high quotation. Pressed Steel Car, Lockawanna Steel, Baldwin Locomotive and Studebaker made heavy gains of 2 to 4 points but their were largely lost toward the end. U. S. Steel rose, and fell within fractional limits and Coppers as a whole were inclined to sag.

Specialties were again taken up at the opening of the market to the neglect of the railway list and other seasoned issues. Westinghouse, which furnished the sensation of the previous day by reason of its strength and activity, rose a point at the outset while pressed steel car, Baldwin Locomotive and half a dozen other stocks of this class rose one to three points. Among the actual leaders U. S. Steel was the only stock to rise as much as a point. Metal shares were mostly lower. Trading was very active but mainly of a professional character.

The general list made some recovery in the later dealings, with a steady close.

Bonds were irregular.

Miss Dolly Wise

She is here to answer any and all questions concerning love, matrimony, troubles, wees, etiquette, etc. Inquiries should be addressed to Miss Dolly Wise care The Daily Times, Portsmouth, N. H. Office Phone 22. Residence 1-200.

Dear Miss Wise—Could you tell me the name of the girl who has been running a motorcycle over the streets of Portsmouth during the past week? I am very much interested in her.

DAISY.

I can't mention names in this column, but "she" lives on the Hill-top.

Dear Dolly—How large is Cuba? HEN.

Cuba is about the size of Pennsylvania.

Dear Dolly Wise—Would you please tell me if we are going to have a bathing beach here this summer. My friend and I would like to know, as we are both interested in such sports.

WATER LILY.

We will probably have some kind of a bathing beach here this summer. There is also talk of a board walk, a la Atlantic City.

Dear Dolly—I am always anxious for evening to come so I may have the opportunity to read your column about everybody's trouble. Now, will you give me a little advice regarding my conditions and a remedy for same. First, we are cleaning house at our home and my wife is cleaning an upstairs room and I have to eat off an old board table in the kitchen covered with a newspaper. Now, where do you think I'll have to eat when she cleans the down stairs?

YOURS FOR COMFORT.

You ought to be glad to get any kind of a "hand-out" during house cleaning time. Why don't you take your meals at a restaurant, or else get your own meals at home? I'm sure your wife wouldn't object if you wanted to eat the table in the dining-room.

Dear Dolly—In what way was gold discovered in California? A READER.

In February 1843, by a workingman in digging in a mill-race in the Sacramento valley.

Dear Miss Wise—My hair is coming in gray. Will it kill the roots of my hair if I dye it?

A READER.

Don't dye your hair; if you do you will ruin it now, and when you do decide to let it get gray, it will be green instead. Beautiful gray hair is fascinating and almost universally becoming.

Dear Dolly—Which is the larger, the Atlantic or Pacific ocean? Also, how wide is each and how many square miles do they contain?

GREENHORN.

The Pacific ocean contains 59,000,000 square miles wide. Its greatest width is 10,000 miles. The Atlantic contains 30,000,000 miles and is 5,000 miles wide.

Dear Miss Wise—Please tell me in tonight's Times why it is that the "Buy At Home Dollar" never falls into the hands of a laboring man, but stays with the merchants?

J. B. R.

There is really no reason, only it just happens that it has never been spent for labor. However, quite a number of people who have handled the dollar are laboring men.

SPECIAL TO WOMEN

The most economical, cleansing and germicidal of all antiseptics is

Paxtine

A soluble Antiseptic Powder to be dissolved in water as needed.

As a medicinal antiseptic for douches in treating catarrh, inflammation or ulceration of nose, throat, and that caused by feminine ills it has no equal. For ten years the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. has recommended Paxtine in their private correspondence with women, which proves its superiority. Women who have been cured say it is "worth its weight in gold." At drugists, 50c. large box, or by mail, 2c. Paxton Toilet Co., Boston, Mass.

April Is Suicide Month

Why? It is not definitely known unless on account of being house-cleaning month, so many people worry themselves insane trying to decide how to paint old floors. A telephone call to Flood & Blake, No. 33 will bring advice that will save hours of worry.

YOUR MONEY

is well spent if you spend it at WENDELKEN'S. Watch, clock and jewelry repairing. Work called for and delivered. 303 Gallia St.

TIMES SERVICE PATTERN.

1301. A stylish gown.

Ladies' Dress, with twin styles of collar.

This attractive model is made with an over waist showing the new high waist effect, and new shaped sleeve. The skirt has a deep hip yoke, lengthened by gores that form box plaits at the sides. The pockets may be omitted. The skirt is joined to a lining waist, which could be made of thin material. The collar in flare style forms a suitable finish for the "V" neck outline. The high collar is a new style feature. The pattern is cut in 6 sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44 inches bust measure. It requires 5 1/4 yards of 44-inch material for a 36-inch size, which measures 3 1/2 yards at lower edge of skirt.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 10c in silver or stamps.

Orders for patterns are forwarded to New York to be filled, hence it requires several days for the pattern to reach the purchaser. Patterns can not be ordered by telephone. Do not use postage stamps for larger denomination than two cents.

Dear Dolly—I am suffering with nervous prostration, or something. I am not what you really would call ill—that is, I have no organic trouble, but there is something radically wrong with me. I don't care to go anywhere or meet people. Just want to sit around and mope all the time. Can you help me? If something doesn't happen soon I'll go crazy.

WORRIED GIRL.

You have allowed your mind to dwell on your condition so long that you imagine a great part of it. Would advise you to practice will power and get yourself in hand, or the encephalitis will get the better of you. Why not take a vacation of several weeks? Change of climate and scenery will do you a world of good. If you can't do this, if I were you I would try what I could do myself by being brave and studying or following some occupation that is intensely engrossing, then you will soon forget about yourself and your condition. Try it and see. Also go out as much as possible and have your friend in for an afternoon or evening.

Dear Dolly—Would like very much to know whether the young ladies wear hats at evenings when going to a show, and if so, do they remove them?

LUCKY.

You can wear a hat or go without, just as you prefer. However, if you wear a hat, remove it before the show starts.

Dear Dolly—Please tell me how to make ice cream.

WANT-TO-KNOW.

Three quarts of milk, heat boiling hot, 1-2 cup corn-starch stirred to paste, 1-2 cups sugar, pinch of salt. After adding cornstarch cook a few minutes, then strain and set away to cool. When cool add 1 pint of cream and flavor with lemon or vanilla. Freeze. This makes one gallon of cream.

SOCIETY

Mr. Frank Pratt Baggs Jr., and Miss Edna Astholz slipped one over on their friends and were married this morning at half after six o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Astholz, on Boundary street, where only the two immediate families were present. Rev. J. W. Dunning of the First Presbyterian church said the impressive rite ceremony. The attendants were Miss Ida Astholz sister of the bride, and Mr. Earl Cropper. Miss Crystal Jacobs assisted in preparing the bride for the wedding. The bride wore a pretty tailored suit of blue with a pretty colored hat trimmed in blue. Her maid was attired in a green suit and a pretty colored hat. The bride only recently gave up her position in the office of the Excelsior Shoe company, where she was very popular. The groom holds a splendid position in the office of the Gilbert Grocery Company. They left on the morning train for a visit in Columbus and other places in the northern part of the state. They will make their home for the present at the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Baggs, on Grant street.

Mr. Ansel Jertes and son, Lewis, are here from Portland, Oregon, visiting his niece, Mrs. Willie Mullins, 2225 Eighth street.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Milstead entertained at dinner last evening Mrs. James McMahon and daughter, Miss Margaret McMahon, who will leave next Wednesday morning for their new home in St. Louis, Mo.

Miss Eunice Vernon, a trained nurse, was called to Wellston to nurse a sick patient.

The K. K. K. Club girls have been having amusements, starting with a party last evening at the home of Miss Margaret Anderson, where their boy friends were the special guests. In the party were the club members, as follows: Misses Mildred Purdum, Louise Gibbs, Florence Daehler, Genevieve Dupre, Margaret Quinn, Ruth Klingman, Anna Tracy, Margaret Anderson, Audrey Nourse, Mildred McAfee, Edna North and Bess Huddleston, and the boy friends included Robert Hogg, John Blum, Walter Wells, William Quinn, William Dupre, Otis Fout, Paul Gable, Charles Beatty, Paul Webb, Vanell Alexander, Vaughn Finney, Elton Schmidt. At the end of the delightful evening delicious refreshments were served. From the Andersons, the girls went to Miss Florence Daehler's home for a slumber party, but there was not much "slumber." This morning they were entertained at breakfast at the home of Miss Mildred Purdum and from there went on a hike around the Boulevard. Tired and hungry they went to Miss Margaret Quinn's home, where the first course of a progressive dinner was served, the second course at Miss Genevieve Dupre's home and the third course at the home of Miss Ruth Klingman. The pleasures ended after visiting the picture shows this afternoon. Miss Alta Marsh, one of the members, was unable to attend the festivities.

Mrs. Edward Clark, of 1638 Logan street, and Miss Margaret Rose, of 1523 Tenth street, left this afternoon for Jackson to visit at the home of Mrs. Clark's mother.

An entertaining program on Friday afternoon brought to a close the work for this year in the Women's Literary Club. Three very delightful papers were read. A very enlightening short history of American Journalism was read by Miss Margaret Firmstone; a carefully prepared paper on Children's Rights was read by Mrs. Ida M. Turner. The story of the fascinating lives of the Concord Writers was presented by Miss Kate L. Vigus. Miss Lydia Appel sang "O Dry Those Tears" very sweetly. Miss Leonora Allard played two beautiful piano solos. Both of these musicians were recalled. Through the unselfish and generous sharing of their musical talent with others, these young ladies have won great favor, not only with this particular club, but with the public generally. Miss Lillian Coates was chairman of the meeting and the club women had the pleasure of entertaining several guests. Pine-apple ice and cake were served by the social committee, consisting of Mrs. Louis Peel, Mrs. Hoolder, Mrs. Martin, assisted by Mrs. P. J. Kline and Mrs. Rasterday and Mrs. Sellars. The year has been a very prosperous and interesting one, with an increase of membership complimentary to the president, Mrs. J. T. McCormick and her officers.

Mrs. David Jones and daughter, Helen, of Huntington, and Mrs. A. J. Miller, of Circleville, are the week-end guests of Misses Anna and Nellie Lloyd.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the First Presbyterian church will meet next Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Benjamin Hopkins. The hostesses will be Mesdames Frank White, William Rudy, George Schlichter, Wirt Stadler and John Wood.

Mrs. Will Cornin, of Peebles, is in the city, the guest of Mrs. E. J. Corson, of Second street.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Brushart will have as dinner guests Sunday evening Mrs. James McMahon, daughter, Miss Margaret McMahon, and son, Mr. George McMahon. Mrs. McMahon and daughter will spend Monday at the home of Mrs. Thomas Conroy, Sr., on "Mummers" avenue. Tuesday afternoon Mrs. William Burke will entertain her Six-Hand Euchre Club and a few other friends for Miss Margaret McMahon, who leaves Wednesday for St. Louis.

Harry Pressler, who has been studying pharmacy at the Ohio State University, Columbus, has taken the examination before the State Board and passed with highest honors, being the highest one in a large class. Harry is now a registered pharmacist. He has had five splendid positions offered him, but will continue at school until the end of the term, although he has really completed his course. Harry is now a full-fledged druggist and his relatives have good reason to be proud of him.

Mr. Louis Roth, who has been spending several months in New Orleans, is visiting his sister, Mrs. John Lockbaum, and other relatives and friends in Portsmouth. He will leave Sunday for Cincinnati.

Several members of the Country Club enjoyed the boat ride on the Island Queen yesterday afternoon. In the party were Mesdames R. B.

Cunningham, W. G. Cheney, J. F. Cager, John Flood, E. C. McCoy, T. B. Lawson, Earl Lawson, W. S. Walker, C. T. Davis and mother, Mrs. Savage.

Mrs. Archibald Sommerville, has returned from a visit in Cincinnati.

Rev. Brooks & Oakley Will Teach Lesson At First Christian

It will be pleasing news indeed to the members of the First Christian bible school to learn that Rev. Crayton S. Brooks, former pastor, who has just returned to Portsmouth from Cleveland where he conducted a most successful revival, will teach the adult class tomorrow morning. Rev. Brooks stated that he would be only too glad to assist the new minister, Rev. Charles R. Oakley, all that he possibly could, and he was at once assigned the task of teaching the bible lesson to the adults Sunday-morning, a task he accepted eagerly and gladly. Rev. Oakley will perform a similar task for the younger folks, and expects to visit all departments of the big school during the bible study hour. The little boys and girls are striving hard to equal the attendance of the adults, who have been averaging 500 of late, and who propose to add at least 100 to these figures tomorrow. The attendance one year ago Sunday was 854 and Superintendent Howland is confident the crowd tomorrow will go away beyond these figures. He is quite sure the Loyal Men will come across with more than 15, adding they will have to in order to defeat the Loyal Daughters. With both Rev. Oakley and Rev. Brooks present, the men should turn out in full force and no doubt they will.

An additional attraction to the members of the bible school will be a saxophone and piano duet by Messrs. "Curley" Foster and Claud Thompson. These young men are two of the most expert musicians in the city and their debut before the school tomorrow is anxiously awaited.

Rev. Oakley announces that he looks for splendid audiences at all services Sunday. It is planned to hold a Missionary rally at the morning an evening services, and judging from the interest created in the event by Rev. Oakley's enthusiasm, the church will respond liberally. Rev. Oakley has set a financial mark which he hopes to attain along missionary lines and is confident the members will back him up.

At the morning service, which begins at 10:30 Rev. Oakley will preach on the subject, "The Divine Presence." His subject for his evening discourse will be "Motives That Move Men." Two splendid sermons are assured.

Rev. Brooks stated Saturday morning that he had no intention whatever in locating at Lexington, Ky. "Portsmouth is my adopted home and I hope to be numbered as one of her citizens for many years to come. I like the town and her people, who to my way of thinking are the best on the map. He expects to leave within the next few days for Texas. From there he will go to Salem, Oregon and then to Los Angeles, Cal., where he is on the program for an address before the World's Sunday School Convention. While in this city, Rev. and Mrs. Brooks will make their headquarters at the Nolan home, 1140 Third street, telephone 743-Y.

Can You Sleep?

"I was bedfast for two years," writes Mrs. M. Fisher, of Athensville, Ill. "For a long time I was so nervous I couldn't sleep. I had womanly troubles, pains in my sides and shoulders and indigestion. I had several doctors and was in the hospital for some time. I tried CARDUI and by the time I had taken three bottles I could stay up all day, and sleep sound at night. I took three bottles in all, and felt as well as I ever had. I wish every ailing woman would try CARDUI as I did. I cannot speak too highly of it."

National U.S.A. Week

A NATION WIDE BOOSTER MOVEMENT IN WHICH THIS STORE JOINS WITH ALL THE RESOURCES AT ITS COMMAND. THE TREMENDOUS SCOPE OF AMERICAN INDUSTRIES IS DEMONSTRATED BY THE DISPLAYS OF "MADE IN U. S. A." GOODS FEATURED HERE THIS WEEK.

THE war in which nearly all Europe is embroiled has given American manufacturers a long-sought-for opportunity to show the world what they are capable of doing. American industries laughed at the mocking, prediction that the United States could never do without the made-up goods and raw materials with which foreign countries had hitherto supplied us. There were dye-stuffs which Germany had always sent, wools which England alone was considered capable of producing, silks from France, and innumerable other things for which the United States had always depended upon European countries. With unflagging persistence, American manufacturers set themselves the task of producing these things without foreign aid or interference, of improving upon them wherever possible, and that they have gloriously succeeded you will admit when you see the extensive displays of "Made in U. S. A." goods at this store.

BEHIND this National Made in U. S. A. Week is a sound and solid idea. Let us explain it. The struggle of the European nations has seriously interfered with the international commerce; not ONLY their commerce, but with our own, as well. American manufacturers MUST seek new outlets for a large part of their output or close down. Every factory that closed down means work people thrown out of employment. Unemployment means business depression which sooner or later would affect us all. YOU can help to keep American factories running on full time! Buy goods Made In U. S. A. and BUY LIBERALLY! Come to our store during National Made In U. S. A. Week, see how well American manufacturers have anticipated your requirements, see what large stocks of Made In U. S. A. goods we are showing. And see the ECONOMY in buying American goods.

Her feet covered with blisters so that she was no longer able to walk, Miss Jessie Bennett, aged 28 years, dropped into police headquarters Saturday afternoon in an exhausted state, after a four and one-half days hike from Cincinnati.

The young woman claimed she had traveled every mile of the entire distance from the Queen City on foot, walking in the day time and sleeping at farm houses at nights. She had been employed as housekeeper in a family there for eight years, she said, but of late they had mistreated her and she determined to return to her widowed mother, Mrs. Betty Bennett at Charleston, W. Va., whom she had not seen during that whole period.

The woman was later provided with a charity pass to Ironton.

Nice Little Slap For Benny Kauff

(Bulletin)
Cincinnati, O., May 1.—The National Baseball commission today refused the application for reinstatement of Benny Kauff, Brooklyn Federal league player, who signed a New York National league contract on last Thursday.

New York, N. Y., April 1.—As a result of a conference between H. M. Hempstead, president of the New York National league baseball club, and R. B. Ward, president of the Brooklyn Federal league club, held this afternoon in connection with the special meeting of the Federal league called to consider the status of Player Benny Kauff, Mr. Hempstead announced that he had surrendered all the claims of the New York Giants to the services of Kauff.

Cincinnati, May 1.—The application for reinstatement of Benny Kauff, the Brooklyn Federal league player who on Thursday signed a New York National league contract was up before Chairman August Hermann of the National commission today and telephonic communication on the subject were being arranged with both President Tener of the National league and President Johnson of the American league. Chairman Hermann in discussing the Kauff case today said:

"So far as I personally am concerned you can say for me that a player who has twice violated a contract is not a desirable man for baseball. Kauff violated one with organized baseball and has now, according to reports, violated one with the Federal league."

A Pretty Tribute
The Ironton Register paid the following pretty tribute to the late Captain P. S. Hart, who died in Ironton Thursday, April 29:

"The deceased was a member of the St. Lawrence Catholic church, a member of Watsonson Council K. of C. of the Holy Name Society and was active in each. He was the secretary and treasurer of the United Commercial Travelers, No. 176, and always took a genuine delight in this work. Captain Hart was also a member of the Chamber of Commerce and had an active interest in the affairs of the city. He wanted only those things that would redound to the credit of the city. He was a staunch Democrat, but only on a few occasions and then only upon the insistence of his friends, did he ever seek political preference."

"Captain Hart knew many men of prominence over this and other states and was a close personal friend of the late Senator Daniels of Virginia. He was active in political affairs in the city, state and nation, his supreme thought and effort, however, being always for what he thought would best serve the greatest number. He goes to his reward with no man's enemy, but with the kindest feeling from his host of friends and acquaintances from everywhere."

"Captain Hart, at one time, was president of the National Hardware Manufacturers' Association and practically all our citizens will recall that he served as captain The Honor Guards, a military organization of this city. He was always actively identified with the affairs of the city that tended towards its elevation, progress and advancement."

Mothers Tell of Mother's Friend

Experience is of should be our best teacher. Women who have played the part of mother, and who have seen the struggle for the life of others, should have a better idea of the influence than those who theorize from observation at any time when a prospective grand-mother urges her daughter to do as she did to her mother. "Mother's Friend," there is reason to believe it is the right advice. Although in the nature of things, a woman would use "Mother's Friend" as a last resort, yet so effective has it been found that it is the only remedy in the world to relieve the tension of nerves and tendons so apt to provoke or aggravate nausea, morning sickness, twitches of the limbs and so on.

It is a fine record for such a special remedy and the grateful letters received from those of years ago notwithstanding that methods are supposed to have greatly advanced. Ask at the drug store for a bottle of "Mother's Friend." It is worth while.

WHY THE FIRST OF MAY

BY WM. ABRAHAM, PORTSMOUTH, OHIO.

To those whose life has become so clearly wrapped up in the struggle for a new society that every ounce of their will power strains toward that goal until death clips it off—their every day is alike. They need no celebration to break the even tenor of their life.

But unfortunately, the great mass of humanity are not conscious of will power. They go by tradition, by orders from the more powerful and generally speaking by impulses from without. They receive their thoughts second hand and have to be taught by object lessons.

One of the object lessons, resorted to by the labor movement is the institution called "Labor Day" and "International Labor Day," and to millions of proletarians this celebration of a labor day is almost the only manifestation of the existence of an organized effort to end their social misery and institute a new order. When they see tens of thousands marching along the rings and shouting words of protest, send shivers down their spine, they get a glimpse of consciousness of power through mass action and organization.

And that is the main significance of such a day as First of May.

The rulers of the world are too world wise to pay any attention to mere gatherings of people and their protests. They are fully aware that the only place where that mass is really to be feared is on the field of industry, when they manifest their organized power in their capacity of producers. But the average worker with his undeveloped mind and his lack of comprehensive grasp of his life, the men and the women, who will not or cannot read and think, and on whom you can make no lasting impression by word of mouth, is either impressed or coerced into solidarity by a show of members, or if he is of nobler spirit, receives a ray of hope in his heart, which he hugs the more devoutly the incapable he is of mastering the world process by his intelligence.

From this point of view, by all means, let us have an International Labor Day, and let it be first of May. On that day the shutters were drawn and the shutters were drawn along the avenues and boulevards in many European cities and extraordinary precautions were taken by the powers that be against disorders. On that day the oppressed masses have been want to scream out their pent-up suffering as in send the shivers to the hearts of their oppressors. The first of May crowds have been inflammable material which only needed a firebrand—a half crazed, crack-brained or an urgent provocation—to lead them up to the muzzles of machine guns to be senselessly slaughtered.

But the spirit of rebellion was sacred. It is the hope of the future. It is the hope of the future. It must only be disciplined to restrain and save itself for the big occasion, carefully nourished by each succeeding first of May, so as not to die of hopelessness. If the steam pressure is allowed to blow off through first of May as a safety valve, it will never accumulate power to burst the boiler.

When the first international labor congress of 1889 in Paris decided upon first of May as an International Labor Day, it made a most happy choice. All the other resolutions adopted at this great international talk fest have been shot to pieces in the trenches which now mark the map of Europe, like the canals on Mars. In these trenches the workingmen of Europe will this year celebrate their first of May, presumably by an especially furious dash against the "enemy," "to save civilization."

But we need not let that worry us. They will quit when they get tired, and nobody can stop the war now, except the workers themselves engaged in it. They are paying the penalty for using indirect action. They tried to revolutionize society through agents, representatives in their legislative bodies. These went back on them, sold them out to the powers of evil to save their own life, and are now driving them to murder one another.

That however, should not stop us workers from observing first of May. Let us go to it with a will, wherever possible. Let us show the world that now begins the era of the new international, which cannot be sold out. Let us show the world that there is no real antagonism between the workers of the different nations. Let us take up the traditions of the past, and save first of May out of the smoking ruins of the old international! From purely sentimental reasons the upholding of first of May as international labor day is also to be recommended. It has traditions in favor of it, running back beyond the dawn of history. Such a power has this tradition over the people in every European country, that no decision, pro or con will alter it. For instance, the night preceding first of May every village in Scandinavia kindles great fires on some hill-top. The cause of this ancient custom has been forgotten, but it lives in the sub-consciousness of the people, so to speak. The common people will celebrate first of May, no matter how we decide, then why not lead the celebration into worthy channels?

Besides first of May is one of nature's great days. In the northern temperate zone it is the spring day par excellence. It is the day of awakening life, it is the day the poets mean when they speak of "the sky so blue," of the lark that "climbs on its warble to heaven," of "the flowers that nod in the groves," of the "unchain-ed brooks that rush into arms of the sea" and such like.

First of May is the day when it takes no great amount of force to make the worker throw away his tools. The sun's force which are so busily and beautifully at work right under the surface of the earth, in the trees, in the flowers, in the birds, in the brooks, are also at work in man. He has an irresistible yearning, for once, with oneness with beautiful nature, which seems to want to own him, if only for a day.

Let us surrender to tradition, let us surrender to nature, let us all celebrate the first of May if only in our hearts and loudly proclaim the oneness of man with nature, the oneness of mankind, the oneness of labor throughout the world.

All hail First of May!
WM. ABRAHAM,
The Little German Tailor.

A BREEZY LETTER FROM W. J. LAMPTON

To the Editor of The Times:

Sir: I observe in The Times of 24th inst., with almost poignant pleasure that Portsmouth has decided to postpone Clean-Up Week until first week in May and the pleasure is almost poignant because I am reminded how in other times I wished that some kindly Mrs. Sellards, or other pious force might come along and take a Federated or any other kind of Club to my father, a most excellent gentleman and admirable father in many respects, because he would not let me postpone Clean-Up Week out there on Gallia street where the Lampton ranch occupied a plot 150x600 feet, until I felt more like tackling the job.

My respected sire at that time had just moved over from the Kentucky side where he had been holding down a Greenup county plot of thirteen thousand acres, and for some reason or other known only to fathers, he had gathered the idea that I, his only son, ought to be able to clean up that Gallia street patch of dirt and not half try. Maybe it looked that way to him with his larger view, but it didn't to me and I used to look over it and imagine if the whole United States was much bigger than that lot it must be a rip-roaring big country, all right. You see, in those days I was only old enough to be a pupil of the Grammar School down there at Second and Chillicothe streets, and of course, a boy of that age wasn't expected to know as much as his father knew, even about his own capacity as a cleaner-up. Still, I had some sort of a vague idea that no father, no matter how much civic pride and town-beautiful taste he possessed, had a right to give his only son a kitchen spoon for a spade, a case-knife for a pruning hook and a wheelbarrow for a dump-cart and tell him to get a move on and put that Gallia street ranch into apple order for the coming of Spring and the Committee on City Improvement and the Development of the Decorative Uplift. I knew that it was a long way from Paradise to Portsmouth and that it wasn't any nearer by cutting across that Gallia street lot, but I don't think my father realized it, because if he had he never would have handed out a job like that to me, for really, there never was a kinder-hearted man. He was simply obsessed with civic pride or esthetic sense, or something like that and he wanted to show those Portsmouth people into whose midst he had come from Kentucky that he and his son would open the prize package of the beauty of cleanliness on Gallia street where the old town would be welcome to sleep over at any time and see for itself. That was his idea, and then he went away on a business trip and left the Paradise-producing proposition to me, with a spoon and a case-knife and a wheelbarrow to do the Paradiseing with.

Thinking these things over at this later day, I say as at first I said, that I note with almost poignant pleasure that Portsmouth has postponed Clean-Up Week for a few days, and it fills me with a sense of rest to think about it.

In conclusion and in justice to my father, I may say that after he had looked over the results of my efforts of several weeks he made a few incongruous remarks and hired a couple of good sized men to assist me in my labors.

Most feelingly, Mr. Editor,
Yours,
W. J. LAMPTON.

NEGLECTED GIRL TAKEN TO LIVE WITH AUNT

Mrs. Lila Johnson, a local resident, left for Cincinnati early Saturday morning with Viola Smith, a bright little eight-year-old girl, who was taken away from her father, James Smith, by the police some days ago, after discovering he was forcing her to sing in public and sell pictures of herself to provide him with "booze" money.

Mrs. Johnson is taking the child to her aunt, Mrs. A. A. Outcall, of Hampton Place, Riverside, who is a prominent and highly respected woman, mother of Attorney Dudley C. Outcall and other successful young business and professional men of the Queen City.

A letter received from Mrs. Outcall by the local city officials Friday stated that Smith had taken the child from her two weeks ago under promise of taking her to his parents for a visit, so that she was surprised to learn of his arrest and detention here. It developed from her letter that Smith, after escaping from the city prison here, went to Cincinnati and called at the Outcall home. Denied admission there, he joined the Salvation Army. Mrs. Outcall writes that she was given custody of the child by her mother, who asked her to take care of her before she died. Smith's parents also pleaded with her to take the child. She has promised to make her forget the past and to educate her as she would one of her own but wants Smith kept away, declaring he is worthless and a disgrace to the family.

Mrs. Johnson will investigate and if she finds conditions as related by Mrs. Outcall will leave the little girl with her and at the same time apply to the juvenile court of Hamilton county to issue an order prohibiting Smith from visiting the Outcall home.

A letter was received by the city officials Saturday from Alfred C. Crous, chief probation officer of the Domestic Relations department of Hamilton county telling of his investigation of the case. He found Mrs. Outcall to be the great aunt of the child, that she has a very good home and recommended that the girl be turned over to her. He suggested that the child be brought into the juvenile court so that it could commit her to Mrs. Outcall and thus give the court supervision of the child. He also gave confirmation to all Mrs. Outcall had written in her letter to the child by her mother, who asked

Mrs. Margaret Sikes, of 812 City street, who is convalescing from her long illness with pneumonia, received Friday a box of sweet-smelling orange blossoms sent by Mrs. Maggie (Marford) Wiget, of Los Angeles, California, and were much appreciated by the recipient. Mrs. Wiget also sent love and regards to the old friends and neighbors of other days. They are nicely situated in "The City of Angels," and "M." former Millbrook park policeman, is still on the "grow" and getting almost as large as a German 42 centimeter, while back here he had difficulty "throwing a shadow."

Dishes Stolen

A barrel of prize dishes was stolen from one of the concession tents at the street fair Friday night. Police were notified as soon as the theft was discovered. Inquiry among residents near the grounds developed the fact that several persons had been seen removing a barrel on a wheelbarrow and filling a tub with something and placing it aboard a street car. A search was made and the barrel was found in a nearby alley. It was still half-full of dishes, the sneak thieves not having had time to entirely complete the removal of their loot.

Small Crowd

About seven hundred people enjoyed the Friday evening excursion on the Steamer Island Queen, which left the local wharf at 8 o'clock. Cool weather kept the attendance down, and the total attendance for the four excursions was the smallest that has been recorded since the Island Queen has been coming here. The pleasure of those who went on the boat, however, was not marred in the slightest.

The excursions were run under the auspices of the Portsmouth Lodge of Elks, which realized a fair sum for its efforts. The Elks will also stand sponsor for two more excursions on the Steamer Homer Smith next Monday and Tuesday, afternoon and evening.

With the opening of the finer weather, motor boating on the Ohio river is once more coming into its own. Many of the motor propelled craft are to be seen plowing the water. Although the river is rather low for this time of year, the pleasure seekers who are acquainted with the channel are having very little trouble.

A number of new crafts have been launched. Thomas M. Burt, local agent for the Gray motor, has sold a number of engines and has prospects for several more. Mr. Burt is also the agent for the Gray motorboats, many of which ply the local waters and give perfect satisfaction. Mr. Burt has a Gray quick detachable engine which is a favorite with him. To demonstrate its handiness he places it in his own canoe and goes skimming over the water. The engine is simple and safe and can be handled by a child.

BRANCH RICKEY'S TEAM INSPECTS PAIGE PLANT

Branch Rickey, who is endeavoring to pilot the St. Louis Browns up the pennant ladder of the American League, took advantage of his team's recent invasion of Detroit to enlighten his boys on the motor car situation. With Mr. Rickey motoring runs a very even race with the national pastime for the capture of his favor and he spends a great deal of time touring in his Paige car.

Mr. Rickey naturally wanted to see the big Paigene factory in Detroit where the new Six models are being made as fast as double shifts of men can turn them out. Accompanied by several of his players Mr. Rickey spent a morning at the Paige factory. With the manager were Jimmy Austin, Captain and third base; Earl Hamilton, pitcher; Darrell Pratt, second base; Sam Agnew, catcher; Johnny Lavan, short stop.

The ball players carefully inspected the Paigene line, went all through the various departments of the factory and watched with great interest all the various processes by which the raw material is quickly transformed into a modern high grade automobile. They were all intensely interested, for the experience was new to them, although they are all automobile fans. They were greatly impressed not only by the size and equipment of the factory but also by the care and skill required to insure quality in a high grade product.

Mr. Hastings' striking tribute to the possibilities of motor haulage is accompanied, in a letter to the Kissel Motor Car company, by some remarkable tire statistics. He has driven his truck 12,700 miles and never had a blow out. Three of the tires were used more than 10,000 miles.

FREE COURSE IN PHOTO-PLAY WRITING

TO BE GIVEN BY THE PORTSMOUTH TIMES

In connection with the Columbia, Lyric, Exhibit, Arcana and Temple Theatres

There is a great demand for scenarios. The growth of the moving picture industry has caused the demand to be greater than the supply, and nearly all the manufacturers pay good prices for acceptable stories. Scenario writing has, therefore, become quite a craze. This is the first of a series of ten free lessons to be published in the Times, one each Saturday. The lessons are written by Lillian M. Rubenstein, formerly scenario editor of the Lubin Motion Picture Company. Read this first lesson, the "short story," and read the other lessons to follow, and when the course is completed you should be a thoroughly competent photo-play writer and able to sell your work to the big producers.

LESSON No. 1

(Copyrighted by Lillian M. Rubenstein)

In writing a photo-play, the most essential fact is to be positive you possess a strong, original theme to work around.

What Is a Photo Play?

A photo play consists of a synopsis of from 200 to 400 words or more when necessary in order to clearly tell the story, a scenario consisting of from 18 to 30 scenes for a one-reel picture and as many more in proportion for two, three or more reels. A cast of characters and a scene schedule.

What Is a Synopsis?

A synopsis is a condensed story of the play, giving the important details, but minus all superfluous description and dialogue. For example:

Mr. and Mrs. Brown, financially embarrassed, decide to rent their home furnished and go to the country to communize. Harold, the young, handsome nephew, also in need of money, determines to utilize his uncle's home as a means of replenishing his flattered purse. Mr. Brown succeeds in getting a tenant for his home and in the meantime Harold has persuaded a theatrical troupe to take up their quarters in the Brown home. The theatrical troupe arrives in advance of the country people to whom Mr. Brown has surrendered the keys and immediately "things begin to happen," at once.

What Is a Scenario?

A scenario is the action of the story in scenes, eliminating all dialogue and description. For example:

Scene 1

Exterior of Brown home.
Harold Brown, accompanied by theatrical troupe, ascends steps and enters house.

Scene 2

Interior of living room, Brown home.
Harold and friends enter and take possession, laughing and in high spirits.

What Is a Scene?

A scene is the part of the action of a play which can be photographed in one place without changing the position of the camera. For example:

Scene 1

Interior of dining room.
Merry crowd around table, toasts, etc. Helen Warrington exhibiting marked jealousy toward Dorothy Wells as Robert Dent shows his preference plainly. As diners leave room, Helen hides behind portiers to spy upon Robert and Dorothy, who are the last to exit.

The above is only one scene, no matter how long the action continues in the dining room, but if any character is slow leaving room, to show him outside will make another scene.

The theme or plot of a photo play is the principal idea around which is woven the incidental details.

The leader, or sub-title, is the explanation which is flashed upon the screen to explain any action of the play which can not be acted in a manner sufficiently plain to carry its full meaning to the audience.

Until several years ago photo plays were made in one-reel lengths only, but now the majority of the plays require from one to six reels of film.

What Is a Reel?

A reel consists of 1,000 feet of film.

Two reels naturally include two thousand feet of film, and so on up. A photo play which contains sufficient interesting material to make more than one reel of film is naturally worth more in price, but it must contain situations strong enough to hold the interest of the audience, for to draw a story out to two reels when it could easily have been made in one reel is "padding" and does not contain the necessary "punch."

A two-reel picture will contain from 30 to 60 scenes.

Do not attempt to utilize a plot which you have read in a magazine or paper, no matter how much time has elapsed since it appeared in print; even though you might succeed in getting it past a reader (who as a rule is extremely well informed both as to ancient as well as modern literature), the fact that it was stolen may, and no doubt will be discovered later on, thereby jeopardizing your chance of ever selling another script, as film companies keep each other informed in such matters.

In assembling your scenario don't cling to the few types already used in so many photo plays; try to create new types of real, breathing humanity, the kind of people you meet in the streets, in your business, in the audience of a theatre, even around a boarding house table; carefully study human nature. Try to imagine just what different types would do under certain circumstances after your plot is clearly formed in your mind, seek a quiet corner, close your eyes and make your characters act for you; make them in the scenes in which you intend them to act and compel them to go through their parts as in a pantomime; you will be surprised to discover that very often the characters will seem to act as though alive, suggesting details to you which you had as yet not thought of; you must always bear in mind that it is only through the action of the characters that the audience can follow the thread of the story, as while you, as the author, understand perfectly the motive which actuates the players, the audience is entirely ignorant of anything but what is depicted upon the screen or in the leaders. This is the reason that so many experienced writers of books and stories fail in the writing of photo plays, they are too prone to dwell upon the dialogue and description, relying upon this to carry the story over to the reader, whose intense mind is the canvas, the author's pen, the brush and his array of facts, descriptions, the pigment out of which the word picture is painted; in the photo play we have a different method to achieve the same result; here we have a series of rapidly moving pictures of photographs using the accessories of the stage, but all told in pantomime in pictures; hence the importance of assembling your play in a manner which can be plainly shown by action alone. Never fill your manuscript with dialogue, as it is only a waste of time—yours and the editor's—and a photo play which loads itself to a quick reading will stand a better show for consideration. The dialogue of a play is improvised by the characters as the story progresses; don't use descriptions, it doesn't make a particular bit of difference as to whether the many hero is the possessor of a flowing blonde mane or the beautiful heroine is the owner of a pair of dreamy eyes, far should the actress possessing the only pair of dreamy eyes at that particular time be ill, or unable to enact the part the director will not permit that fact to postpone the making of that play.

Lyric Headliners For Next Week

Elsie Janis At Lyric Tuesday
Emma Dunn in Wm. A. Brady's beautiful production "Mother," a masterpiece in four reels, is the special feature for Monday. Elsie shows where a gambler who is out Janis makes her first appearance in picture in the Tuesday Paramount offering "The Caprices of Kitty," a play written by herself and a sparkling comedy drama that has made a big hit everywhere. Don't forget it's Tuesday, the one day only, and you will be sure to enjoy Elsie Janis every minute she's on the screen. The admission will be only ten cents afternoon and evening. Come in the afternoon and be sure of getting in. On Wednesday and Thursday in addition to the regular program the Lyric will show a two reel comedy featuring the world's funniest comedian, Charlie Chaplin, "two thousand feet of scintillatingly funny stuff that will absolutely make you laugh and keep you laughing all the time. "The Enemies" on Friday is a Broadway Star feature with Edith Storey, Harry Morey and Harry Northrup in the leads. It's a great picture. Francis Bushman will be with us on Saturday in a splendid three reel offering "The Return of Richard Neal." It's the best story that Bushman ever acted, so don't miss it.

Temple Theater Tonight

"The Purgatory Testament," Elsie shows where a gambler who is out of funds marries a widow for her money. He wastes all on drink and cards. His harsh treatment hastens her death. He forges a will, his wife draws another one, leaving all to her daughter. A newspaper reporter discovers the true will and the forger is arrested. "Peace which the world cannot give." This picture is well acted and staged. In the cast are: Charles Cleary, Corn Drew, Olga Gray and Signe Aasen. The third and fourth reels are the final episode of the "Diamond Mine Mystery" wherein Zudara answers: "I am the richest woman in the world."

"Neptune's Daughter," with Annette Kellermann in the Title Role.

When "Neptune's Daughter" opens at the New Sun theatre for three days engagement, commencing with the next Thursday matinee, you will see a moving picture in eight parts, one of the most brilliantly effective screen productions ever projected on the screen.

Annette Kellermann, the diving Venus, who enacts the title role in "Neptune's Daughter," is noted for her incomparable skill and grace as a water queen, as well as for a rare perfection of figure, and this photo-play provides her ample scope to display her charms.

The shore of Bermuda was chosen, and there were filmed the wondrously beautiful scenes now presented on the screen.

"Neptune's Daughter" briefly tells a most dramatic story, dealing with a legendary folk, who inhabit the depths of the sea, and the encroachment on their domain by the fisherfolk of King William's realm. How Angela, the baby sister of Annette, is caught in the net of the fishermen and unable to extricate herself, dies, the oath taken by Annette to avenge her sister's death, and to do so is provided with a charm from the old witch of the sea, which permits her to become mortal and immortal at will.

Charles Chaplin in "The Property Man" At The Exhibit

Charles Chaplin in "The Property Man" will be at the Exhibit tonight. The demand has been so great for the Chaplin feature comedies that the Cincinnati Mutual Exchange has purchased three new copies of all the Chaplin Keystone features. The Exhibit will be open during the supper hours every Saturday and it will give those who are busy a chance to see Chaplin during the supper hour. Keystone comedies are conceded to be the best comedies produced in this country. Mack Sennel is the famous Keystone comedy director.

On account of the many who wish to see these popular features the management advises as many as possible to come early.

Final Episode "Master Key" At Brady

Tonight is a great feature night at the Brady theatre in the East End. The last of the great "Master Key" serial story. The added attraction will be a two reel western Belvoir drama, "The Oath of Smokey Joe," a big strong western full of life and action. The fifth reel will be a farce L-Ko comedy, "Billie's New Pal," featuring the funniest comedian Billie Ritchie.

SUMMER VACATIONS COMMENCE

The city firemen began their summer vacations Saturday.

Charles Partlow, of the Hilltop company; Frank Fagan, of the East End company, and Thomas Jefferson, of the Seventh street company, were the lucky ones to start off the respective lists.

The firemen will receive ten days vacation with pay. Arthur J. Hudson, Thomas Whitte and George Wills have been appointed to serve as substitute firemen during the vacation period.

The police were also to have started their vacations Saturday but Chief W. T. McCarty decided to wait until the force was thoroughly organized again, there having been more or less sickness among the members of late. He thought that the police vacations would probably be started by the middle of the month.

Lambert Estate

Application for the appointment of an administrator of the estate of the late Cornelius Lambert of Porter township was filed in probate court Saturday by Victoria Lambert, a daughter of Victoria Lambert, a daughter of the deceased. The estate is valued at $2500, $500 personal and $2000 real. The court has the matter under advisement.

Back From Pen.

Sheriff Smith returned home Friday evening from Columbus after having delivered Russell Williams, colored, to the authorities of the Ohio penitentiary to begin his term on the charge of burglary and larceny.

Sheriff Smith accompanied Charles Kent and John Orthmeyer, two local N. & W. trainmen, through the penitentiary on a sight-seeing tour. During the visit, he saw Amanda Davis, the local colored woman, who is serving a sentence for having murder of her dusky admirer on Eleventh street about a year ago.

Craig Boy Much Better

Mrs. Charles Mcford, of Mill and Sinton streets, appeared down town Saturday morning with Landy Craig, the imbecile boy, who was entrusted to her temporary care some months ago. He was in a baby carriage and his well groomed appearance was a revelation to such persons who remembered him as an unkempt and sadly neglected child. The boy seemed to be enjoying his outing hugely, he repeatedly jumping up and down and chattering in great glee. He made ready, though somewhat incoherent responses to questions asked him by his custodian and gave every sign of recovering his mind.

The boy is now able to walk and frequently plays with neighbor children with whom he is becoming quite a favorite. Mrs. Mcford has proven that she is the proper person to have charge of the child and some steps should be taken to make the arrangement permanent.

MISTAKE IN WEBER'S AD

In justice to Charles Weber, proprietor of a Chillicothe street shoe store, the Times desires to make a statement concerning the use of the word "competitors" as used in Mr. Weber's display ad in Friday's Times. The word should have been "competition" and was so written in the copy of the advertisement as furnished this paper by Mr. Weber. There was no intention on the part of Mr. Weber to cast any reflection whatever upon his competitors, which the latter might gather through the way the advertisement read. The advertisement stated that the Weber sale had "demoralized competitors," when it should have read "demoralized competition." There is a vast difference between the two statements. Mr. Weber is admitted to be one of the fairest competitors in the city and is held in the highest possible esteem by the business men of Portsmouth. Hence this statement to "set" him right in the matter.

BROTHERHOOD CLASS

This popular class for men will meet as usual tomorrow at nine o'clock in the rectory's study at All Saints church. The lesson will deal with the "Sin of Impatience" and ought to be very valuable inasmuch as it deals with a very common failing. The attendance has been keeping up in spite of the temptation offered by the exceptionally fine Sundays of the past few weeks and it is confidently expected that tomorrow will sustain our well earned reputation for faithfulness. All men are made heartily welcome at the Brotherhood Class and if you are not already a member of some bible class in the city we would like very much to have the opportunity of proving this to you. The instruction given at the class is in keeping with the latest conservative scholarship and perfect freedom of discussion is allowed.

PHILIPPINE COMMENCEMENT

Montavon, former Portsmouth resident, now district superintendent of schools in a province in the Philippine Islands, has favored a few of his local friends with copies of invitations to the seventh annual commencement of the Tayabas high school, held on March 30 last, in the high school auditorium there. Mr. Montavon made the presentation of diplomas to the members of the graduating class, twenty-four in number. He has been in the Philippines for about thirteen years and has rapidly forged to the front in educational circles.

Mr. Hurth Files An Answer To Suit

Attorneys Bannon and Bannon and Meyer, representing Adolph I.

Hurth, defendant in a $5,000 damage suit filed by Herman Greenberg, a minor, through his father, Samuel Greenberg, alleging slander, filed the answer of the defendant to the allegations of the plaintiff in common pleas court this morning.

In his answer Mr. Hurth avers that young Greenberg had on a number of occasions, prior to November 21st, 1911, the date of the alleged act, taken bottles of beer from cases belonging to defendant without authority from him. He further states that on November 21, 1914, he was informed by the plaintiff's brother, known as "Dado" Greenberg, that Herman had taken a case of beer off his wagon.

He concludes his answer by saying that he afterward reprimanded Herman in the presence of his father, on the strength of what his brother had told him, and that if he did say the utterances alleged in the petition, that he spoke them with reasonable cause to believe that they were true and without any malice or evil intent.

He asks the court to dismiss the action against him at the plaintiff's cost.

LOCAL GERMAN'S VIEW OF THE WAR

By Major Lewis F. Korth, Former Editor of The Correspondent

Friday, April 30, 1915.
Study of the news from western war front this week shows that the German operations all along the line were in the nature of co-operative efforts from right to center and center to left. From Ypres and La Bassee in the Flanders Canal region to the valley of the Meuse (Verdun) and from there to the Vosges hills and the Sundgau in Upper Alsace. They have all been successful and brought to the victors everywhere a gain of ground, about 5,000 prisoners and some sixty guns. It is true the Germans did not crush the enemy, as the latter phrase it when recording success, or batter down his front, but they have made satisfactory advance for further operations in plan.

After the defeat at Ypres last week the Allies made all sorts of pardonable claims but actual conditions, as evidenced by reports of positions on both sides, show that their Yper week has been whittled down considerably and in the fight to the north of the town, still going on, the German batteries south and southeast of it are posted near enough to support the moving columns.

St. Julien, Pilkem and Het Sas, north of Ypres and close to the canal, are in German hands, as is Wormezele south of it, and every storming column must get between two fires. Little chance is there for the Allies to recover lost ground. They are trying hard to retake Steenstraete where the Germans have penetrated (close to the bank of the Yser Canal) and where they are in their flank, but the Germans hold it firmly under a furious bombardment and have repulsed all counter attacks.

The only communication the Allies have with their base and rear at present is by way of Poperinghe, their headquarters, which connects with Calais by rail and with Dunkirk by pike on the canal dyke. All other roads are in German possession or under German fire as in Poperinghe itself. The wedge is in danger of being pinched off, just as the German wedge has been at Neuve Chapelle.

The Allies lay great stress on the fact that the Germans do not hold Lizerne on the west bank of the canal (opposite Steenstraete on the east bank) which they took on the first day of the battle and had to give up under a murderous fire, but they hold the bridgehead and by capturing a strip of woodland from St. Julien to Pilkem have been able to straighten out their front.

Fighting is going on along the whole 65 miles front from the sea to south of Lille just like last fall, and it is not improbable that the German drive toward Calais, if intended at all, will come from the line Lille-Amiens instead from Ypres.

By the way if the Canadians saved the Allies at Ypres, as London asserts, how did it happen that over a thousand of them were captured along with their heavy artillery, four 12.8 cm. guns of the London Garrison artillery, which is always posted by miles to the rear. Admitting that the Canadians were outflanked and behaved well facts speak against the London glorifying reports.

In the valley of the Meuse at Les Eparges, west of Combray, and in the Champagne north of Alesnil the Germans have stormed extensive French intrenchments, taking many prisoners at Combray alone 1,800 and 17 guns. In the Vosges passes they have at last captured the important height known as Hartmann-Wellerkopf with the entire garrison, 760 men. They held it against three counter attacks. It controls the eastern St. Amarin valley and the Alsatian plains between Gebweiler and Muelhausen.

To the east of Suwalki near the East Prussian frontier the Germans have stormed Russian positions along a front of twelve miles. At Ciechanow south of Mlawa a Russian attack was repulsed.

Petrograd reports that the Germans are on the offensive again in Northern Poland.

By a decided victory the Austrians have obtained control of the whole Orava Valley in the Carpathians and forced the Russians back eleven miles to the east of Ussag pass and out of 28 fortified mountain positions which command the railroad between Lemberg and Mukaczew. The Russians left thousands of dead and wounded on the field. At the same time the Germans took the Ostry heights west of the pass and brought the operations in that region to a successful finish. The whole range had been transformed into a chain of forts and batteries by the Russians, who considered it impregnable.

Berlin reports and Petrograd admits that Hindenburg is on a new drive in the direction of Strzy in Galicia, junction of the railroads from Przemyel and Czernowitz to Lemberg, to cut off the Russians in the mountains or force them to evacuate Western Galicia. These operations are said to have been successful so far.

London announces, "Landed under the protection of the guns of their warships and victors in the initial skirmish with the Turks the allied troops are rapidly sweeping onto the forts guarding the narrows on the Dardanelles. They have held the lower end (south coast) of the Gallipoli peninsula."

Constantinople flatly contradicts this statement and says: "The Allies have been repeatedly repulsed at Kunt Kaleh (one of the outer Dardanelles forts) leaving three machine guns in our hands."

On Tuesday the Turkish minister of war proclaimed the defeat of the center and the right of the Allies army and on Wednesday that of the left. The Allies were driven back to the shore.

The Allies claim that they have taken 8,000 prisoners and the Turks go still higher. Neither report has been confirmed so far, but as rapid an advance of the Allies, as claimed, seems improbable in view of the strong defenses of the Turks and the number of the troops behind them. Military experts acquainted with conditions agree that progress of the Allies must necessarily be slow. Berlin has reports from Constantinople that in the bombardment of the first line of the Narrows batteries three British battleships and one French cruiser were damaged and sent out of action, a French battleship was set afire and two British transports were hit.

Italian papers learn that so far Sir Henry Barton, commander of the Anglo-Egyptian troops in Khartoum, has not been able to suppress the rising of the Darvishes in Sudan and Nubia. The new Mahdi is said to have 70,000 of them under his command. As the Anglo-Egyptian government suppresses all news from Egypt little information reaches Europe.

It is a bad omen to the French that their big warship, which was torpedoed in the Ionian sea last Tuesday, or rather in the Strait of Otranto, bore the name of the man under whom France went down in 1871, Leon Gambetta.

An Austrian submarine launched two torpedoes against the cruiser both of whom were effective. Of the crew of 750 only 136 were saved. The commander, Senet, certainly a man of bravery and honor, did not want to survive his ship and shot himself. A remarkable incident is that the Gambetta with other French cruisers was patrolling the strait to keep Austrian submarines from going out to the Dardanelles and playing havoc with the Allies fleet and became the first victim of them. Most likely the submarine is one of a flotilla operating in the Mediterranean. The wreck of the Gambetta, which was built in 1905 and cost almost six million dollars, has stranded.

We agree with the naval writers opinion that the submarines will make an end to naval supremacy and splendid isolation of any power. After this war England will be non-approachable no more, no matter what big and powerful navy she has got. A great American invention is cause and means of it. This is in substance what the U. S. Army and Navy Journal says of modern submarine warfare.

By report of the harbor officials of Hull, England, seventeen ships, which were due there in four weeks previous to April 15, did not arrive. This statement came in a roundabout way to the German admiralty. Official statements of "submarine accidents" are not forthcoming any more from London. Nobody need to ask why.

In the Aegean Sea the fleet of the Allies has captured a number of neutral steamers and taken them to the island of Mudros, among them three which belong to an American company, the Hadji Daut, and sail under the American flag.

Our ambassador in Berlin, Mr. James W. Gerard, is given great credit by the German press for attention to duty and the skillful handling of difficult questions. Mr. Gerard has done Germany and his own country most appropriable service" Roland of Berlin says.

The Kronprinz has been interned in Norfolk the same as the Eitel Fritz. Both lay in the same dock. Most of the crew of the first is down with Beri-Beri.

Two of the American military experts with the German army, Captains Roukenbach and Sharple, who have returned, express great satisfaction with the treatment they received. Every facility to gather information was readily afforded them.

German submarines are active in the Gulf of Bothnia. Sea traffic in Finnish ports is stopped. So Stockholm reports.

Three transatlantic steamers could not sail in consequence of a big sailors wage strike, a Glasgow cable of 22 inst. announced. As yet Italy has sent no ultimatum to Austria, but Japan has sent one to China.

Italy and Austria have come to terms, Berlin says.

In explaining the financial situation in Germany the German minister of finance, N. K. Helfferich, told the correspondent of the United Press, both of the enormous war loans were oversubscribed and if a third one was necessary the same would occur, because the money stays in the country. The savings banks today hold over 5,000 million dollars of the peoples money and deposits are increasing daily. While England, France and Russia have made large loans in the United States (Germany has not borrowed a cent. The French Government owes the bank of France 5,000 million francs and has gone even heavier into debt for war purchases, Russia is in a worse condition. Germany's financial status is sound all around, the secretary declared anew.

Bank clearances in Germany rose to 1,378 million dollars in the month of March, little less than last year. Berlin is building a new underground road for $17,500,000, a central market for $10,000,000, the largest in the world, new harbor works for $9,250,000, a big new passenger depot, two new suburban traction roads and a number of new streets.

The outlook for a big harvest in Austria-Hungary, by which Germany will benefit too, is promising. In Hungary especially a record crop is expected. This is what the Vienna correspondent of the Associated Press reports.

"The war has brought ruin to the wine industry of Southern France. Prices have fallen to nothing," the deputy of Herault, Barthe, states in a Paris trade journal.

Great Britain is drawing her starvation strings around. Germany's throat still tightens. The export of foodstuffs to Germany by or through neutral states is to be made impossible. Secretary Primrose has stated in parliament. Germany does not seem to be without friends altogether. Some one is handing her a loaf through the bars.

We glean from a private letter that in Munich flour costs 7 to 9 cents according to quality, meat, 15 to 22 cents, sugar 6 cents, and these things are no higher anywhere else in Germany with nearly a million prisoners to feed besides the population and the army.

Cotton has now been declared absolutely contraband by the British government. By the decree it is to be admitted into Spain and Portugal, but not into Italy, which is cut out, just like Germany and Austria, its allies. How do you construe that?

The Allies have been playing Greece against Italy by promising it Syria with Smyrna, which the latter will never consent to. Both are waiting for the outcome of the Dardanelles struggle.

In November last the world was surprised, and some were shocked, by the announcement of the French war office that it was experimenting with a new bomb, whose noxious gases and stifling fumes would upset whole regiments. It would revolutionize warfare. The experiment has been tried out, and by French reports and German complaints has proved effective. As long as the Allies were using the bombs (hand-grenades thrown by slingshots) alone that was very satisfactory to them and their "neutral" friends, but since the Germans have turned tables on them and shown that they too are up to chemistry we hear the old outcry of barbarism and barbaric warfare against the Germans again, especially since the late battle of Ypres. The Allies defeat is laid to the fumes of these explosives, which made them retreat three miles and give up 45 guns.

The Daily News of London charges Lord Northcliffe, head of the Times syndicate, with selfish motives in treating the war question. She says he is pouring oil into the fire by his jingoism and sensationalism. German papers publish letters from London in which is stated that among the working people of England the feeling against Germany has much changed. In public meetings respect if not admiration is expressed over what the Germans have done in the field and at home. A desire for peace pervades the laboring classes that is not out for national glory. During our Civil War Great Britain was several times on the point of turning against us. There is little doubt but that for John Bright she would have done it. Her government was against us. Her people were for us because they held slavery in contempt. The English and the German people are kin, never fought each other. Trade jealousy of the ruling class is the cause of today's enmity against Germany, just as it was in 1861-65 against the United States.

Not the People But the Earl. Throughout England the conviction that the course of the Asquith government, guided by Sir Edward Grey, has been different in motive and purpose than proclaimed by the latter in August last is growing. Documentary evidence of this is a letter of Dr. F. C. Conybeare, the famous Oxford scholar, to a friend in the states, and published in the "Vital Issue" of New York.

He says "In August and September last year I felt so sure that England had all right on her side and Germany all wrong that I hardly troubled to read the diplomatic documents. At the beginning of October my attention was drawn to the emperor's correspondence with the Czar in the White Book and I realized then that he had made sincere efforts for peace in the days July 29-31, which set me to study the German and English White Books and carefully compare notes."

The result of this study is given in eight dissertations, too lengthy to reproduce here, but Dr. Conybeare comes to the conclusion, that the war could have been avoided, if England had kept only that the German emperor through Ambassador Lichnowski in London freely offered to respect the neutrality of Belgium and guarantee the integrity of France and her colonies and furthermore brought Mr. Grey to formulate any conditions, on which England would consent to be neutral, but that Mr. Grey refused all on the pretext of keeping his hands free, because he had pledged England's assistance to France beforehand, and the German ambassador left with the conviction that he (Grey) wanted war.

"Grey concealed Germany's proposals from the British cabinet as he did from the house of commons, and by doing so tricked the English people into a war to which it was averse, with the exception of the rabid Tories," Dr. Conybeare says. "But for Grey's action Russia would not have risked the war."

"As soon as Parliament met Keir Hardie spotted the interview between Sir Grey and the German ambassador and asked him about the German proposals and why they had not been made the basis for peace." Mr. Grey acknowledged that he disclosed them to no one and did not act upon them because he "believed" the German ambassador had submitted them without authority, in which he is contradicted by the White Book.

Dr. Conybeare calls Grey's conduct criminal. He places the responsibility for the war where it belongs and frees the English people from it, at least the masses who were too much concerned with their own affairs to trouble about Serbia and Belgium, for revolution was brewing in England and Ireland which to avert a little war with little Germany, Grey sized it up, came handy. But the spark has kindled a world conflagration.

"Plotters" Taken To Reformatory

Harry Zornes and Henry Cartwright, the North End young men, convicted of robbing an N. & W. car and stealing metal from the Terminals, who confessed to having plotted a jail delivery, were taken back to the State Reformatory at Mansfield by W. P. Brown, field officer of that institution early Saturday morning. Police Chief W. T. McCarthy says he expects to recommend an early release from the Cincinnati workhouse of Will Gillman and Will Frazier, the two men who tipped off the plot to him. He said it was not until they reached Cincinnati that they told him they had some information that he ought to possess. They hesitated in telling him and it was not until he told them that they would not lose anything by telling him that they finally "pneched." The chief at once picked up a "phone in the workhouse office and notified the officials here.

John Harvey, whom the young men implicated as the one who had purchased the saws for them and who was thought to have skipped to Kentucky, was caught on the street fair grounds by Officer Roy Moore Friday evening. A charge of aiding and abetting prisoners to escape has been placed against him. Harvey is a cousin of Zornes. The saws were found at Zornes' home, coroner Eleventh and Gay streets. A young girl named McGill visited Zornes at the police station but when discovered by the mayor was ordered to remain away.

Harvey admitted in police court Saturday that he had taken the saws to the Zornes home. He was fined $25 and costs and sentenced to 60 days in the Cincinnati workhouse.

The fact that the alley in the rear of Dr. D. A. Berndt's home was reported in a bad condition by the clean-up day committee, called attention to a condition for which Dr. Berndt was in no wise responsible. He had had the alley paved and during the winter it became necessary to tear up the paving on account of some plumbing repairs that were being done by a neighbor. The paving could not be restored until the frost was out of the ground and was not done until early this week. The dirt left over from the plumbing and repaving was piled on one side of the alley and arrangements had been made for its removal, but the man engaged had not yet reached the job. In the meantime the clean-up committee came along and Dr. Berndt was held responsible for having a bad alley. In justice to him this explanation is made.

Official advices to state department said that Gen. Obregon was advancing rapidly from Celaya toward Aguas Calientes with a strong force, while Gen. New York, May 1.—Secretary Bryan declared in an address under the auspices of the National Abolitionists' Union here last night that the European war had developed that even patriotism was "no match for the appetite which alcohol cultivates in its victims. The secretary was urging total abstinence and referred to restrictive measures which some of the belligerent nations have taken against intoxicants.

of native police and two companies of the United States' coast artillery who aided in fighting the fire.

Half the population have lost all their belongings.

The fire started in the heart of the city and soon was beyond control of the native fire brigade.

The wooden buildings, of which the town is almost exclusively constructed, burned like tinder. Most of the largest stores in Colorado were directly in the path of the flames. The cause of the fire has not yet been learned.

All the banks of the city were destroyed and part of the railway station was burned.

"There has been a growing disposition in this country and throughout the world to emphasize the villain of strong drink," he said, "but even the most enthusiastic advocates of temperance have been surprised at the ghastly light which the war in Europe has thrown upon the subject. It has been found that patriotism, that compelling force which throughout the ages has led men to offer their lives for their country, is no match for the appetite which alcohol creates in its victims. Loyalty to Baeus, Gumbrium and Barleycorn is greater than loyalty to King or Kaiser or Czar. The use of drink has been found to be so destructive of efficiency that the belated governments, not on moral grounds but purely on economic grounds, have been compelled to resort to restrictive measures. The aeroplane that drops its bomb from above and the submarine which shoots its torpedoes from below are less to be feared than the schooner that averages the bar."

American Business Drawing Lines Closely

Mr. Bryan declared that drink led to idleness and that American business men were drawing the line more strictly against the use of alcohol by employees.

"Why?" he asked. "Because a clear brain and a steady nerve are required in every important avenue of industry, and alcohol befuddles the brain and paralyzes the nerves."

Newport News, Va., May 1—The coast guard service gains two important additions to its fleet of vessels by the launching here today of the cutters "Ossipee" and Tallapoosa."

The two cutters were authorized by congress in June, 1914. The "Osage" at a cost of $225,000 and the "Tallapoosa" at $250,000. The Tallapoosa will replace the old cutter Winona, with headquarters at Mobile, and the Osage replaces the cutter Waubury at Portland, Maine.

The new vessels are practically duplicates. Each will be armed with a battery of four standard navy six-pounder rapid fire rifles and have a steaming radius of about five thousand miles. They will go equipped for rescue work on the high seas and for derelict destroying.

Ottawa, Ont., May 1.—The story of what he describes as a "Great and glorious feat of arms," the desperate battle fought by the Canadian division to check the recent German advance near Ypres, was told in a cable communication from Sir Max Aitken, the Canadian record officer, given out by the military department here today. The account describes how the Canadians, the majority of them raw recruits, met the German rush after the latter had released the asphyxiating gases, and how, although greatly outnumbered, they succeeded with heavy losses, in recovering four British guns and much ground by a brilliant dash.

"On April '22," the account continues, "the Canadian division held a line of roughly five thousand yards, extending in a northwesterly direction from the Ypres-Boisler railway, to the Ypres-Poelcappelle road and connecting at its terminus with the French troops. The division consisted of three infantry brigades in addition to the artillery brigades."

After telling of the release of the gas, forcing the French back, Sir Max reported that this left the Canadian division "with it left in the air", an extremely grave condition. It became imperatively necessary greatly to extend the Canadian lines to the left rear.

"In the course of the confusion which followed upon the rapid retreat of position": the enemy says: "the enemy, which had advanced rapidly after his initial success, took, four British tanks in a small wood to the west of the village of Saint Julien, two miles in the rear of the original French frontages."

"The enemy's attack developed with particular intensity upon the apex of the newly formed line running in the direction of St. Julien."

Took Position At Point of Bayonet
 "In the course of the night of the 22nd., and under the heaviest machine gun fire, this wood where the four guns had earlier been captured by the enemy, was assaulted by the Canadlian Scottish 160th battalion of the Third brigade and the Tenth battalion of the Second brigade. The battalions, after a very fierce struggle took the position at the point of the bayonet. At midnight the Second battalion under Colonel Watson and the Toronto regiment, Queen's own, (Third battalion) under Lieut. Col. Rennie, both of the First brigade brought up much needed reinforcements. "All through the following day and night the battalions shared the fortunes and misfortunes of the Third brigade. An officer with

The third brigade, the 10th, took part in the attack. It described how the men about him fell under the fire of the machine guns, which, he said, played on him like a water-pistol, but the line never wavered. Then one man went another took his place, another will a third, and so on, until with a final shout the survivors of the two battalions lunged themselves into the wood. The German garrison was completely demoralized and the impetuous advance of the Canadians did not cease until they reached the side of the wood and entrenched themselves in positions so dearly gained. They had, however, the disappointment of finding that the guns had been blown up by the enemy, and later in the same night a most formidable concentration of artillery fire sweeping the wood made it impossible for them to hold the position for which they had sacrificed so much.

Fighting Continues
All Through the Night

"The fighting continued without intermission all through the night. At six a. m. on Friday, the 23rd, it became apparent that the left was becoming more and more involved and a powerful German attempt to outflank it developed rapidly. It was therefore decided to try to give relief by a counter attack upon the first line of German trenches, now far advanced from those originally occupied by the French. This was carried out by the Ontario first and fourth batallions of the first brigade. under Brig. General Meroz, acting in combination with a British brigade.

In Making Advance
It did not seem that any human being could live in the shower of shot and shell which began to play on the advancing troops. They suffered terrible casualties. For a short time every other man seemed to fall, but the attack was pressed even closer and closer. The fourth Canadian battalion at one moment came under a withering fire. For a moment it wavered, its most gallant commanding officer, Lieut. Colonel Birchall, dying, after an old fashion, a light case easily and cheerfully rallied his men and at the very moment when his example had infected them, fell dead at the head of his battalion.

With a cry of anger they sprang forward as if to avenge his death. The astonishing attack which followed by battalions whose names should live forever in the memories of the soldiers, was carried to the first line of German trenches. After a hand to hand struggle the last German who resisted was bayoneted and the trench was won.

Winning of Pivotal Point Saved Situation

This trench represented in the German advance the apex of the breach which the enemy had made in the principal line of the Allies and it was two and a half miles south of that line. This charge made by men who looked death indifferently in the face, saved the Canadian left. It also secured and maintained during the most critical moment of all, the integrity of the allied line. At four a. m. on the morning of Friday, the 23rd, a fresh emission of gas was made both upon the second brigade, which held the line running northeast and upon the third brigade, which had continued to hold the line up to the pivotal point. The 48th Highlanders were dismayed and their trench became intolerable. The battalion retired from the trench, recovered themselves and re-occupied it.

"It was clear that several German divisions were attempting to crush or drive back the Third Brigade and in any event to use their enormous numerical superiority to sweep around and overwhelm our left wing. The last attempt partially succeeded. German troops swung just the unsupported left to the brigade and slipping in between the wood and St. Julien, added to the torturing anxieties of the long drawn-out struggle, by the appearance, and indeed for the moment the reality, of isolation from the brigade

In the exertions made by this Third Brigade during this strenuous crisis, Major Norrworth, became almost disabled by a bullet wound; was bayoneted and killed. Captain McQuinn of the same battalion was seriously wounded in hurriedly constructed trench, which he refused to leave.

"On Friday afternoon, the left of the Canadian line was strengthened by important reinforcements of British troops amounting to seven battalions. From this time forward the Canadians also continued to receive further assistance from the left from a series of French counter-attacks pushed in a northeastern direction from the

Intense Firing Makes Canadians Retreat

"The fire of the artillery of the enemy continually grew in intensity until it became evident that the Canadian salient could not be retained. Slowly, stubbornly and contesting every yard the defenders gave ground until the salient gradually receded from the point where it had originally aligned with the French and fell back upon St. Julien.

"Soon it became evident that even St. Julien, exposed from right and left was no longer tenable in the face of overwhelming numerical superiority. The Third brigade was therefore obliged to retreat farther south selling ev-

THE GET-TOGETHER DINNER.

We do not quite get the contention of The Star that because our cartoonist is having a little fun with the prospective, banqueters of the Get-Together League of would-be office holders, we are thereby, with malice aforethought, seeking to injure a circulation campaign The Star has on. Nor do we see wherein we are thereby "knocking" the statesmen from abroad who are to be present. If we compared some of these prospective guests to a "dead house" as The Star did the president of the United States recently, the "knocking" allegation might be well founded, but in the meantime, we may be dense, but we cannot find the knocking. As for The Star's circulation or other campaign, it is not our understanding, from the proclamation of the get-together feed that it is the intention to bring our governor and our senator here in the role of solicitors for The Star but for the general rejuvenation and rehabilitation of the Republican party locally, in the district and elsewhere too numerous to mention. On the latter basis, we insist that the supposed or real ulterior motives of some of the promoters are legitimate subjects for comment.

As for The Star itself we can only repeat what we have said heretofore. We have neither ambition nor desire to monopolize the local journalistic field. We have been attending strictly to our own business of getting out a newspaper and we expect to continue to do so. We would not seek to injure The Star or any other opposition financially or otherwise. They have the same right to exist that we have, the same right to compete for public favor. It is not to be expected that we will agree upon all matters, or see all things alike, and when we do disagree that is one of the things that comes in the course of business and does not imply lack of personal cordiality or good feeling.

No, we have no bad thoughts, nothing but good wishes for The Star. We hope the paper realizes the expectations and hopes of its management, for we have been through the mill and know how it goes.

As for our cartoons, we find the community, even those seated at the tables thoroughly enjoying them. And there will be a few more.

IT TAKES TIME.

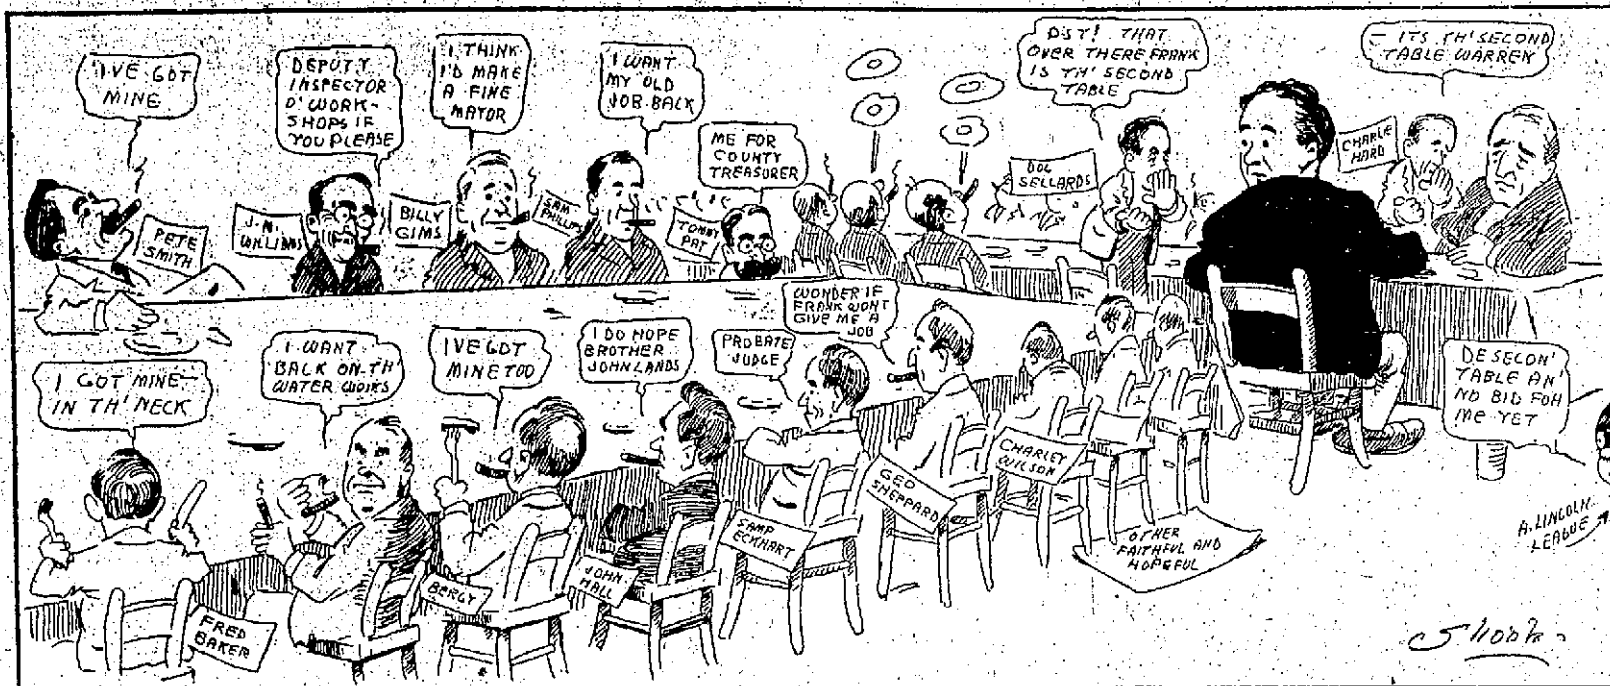

In a town of near eight thousand inhabitants a federal government expert conducted, this week, a canning school. Its purpose was to teach people, especially women and housekeepers the economies of food stuffs. Not solely, as the name of the school would imply, how to can products, but how to most conserve and economize in the preservation and use of food stuffs.

In definite and immediate results the school could scarce be termed a success, or any success at all in fact. The attendance was quite satisfactory, but a large portion, say about nine-tenths of the "pupils" set themselves in antagonism to the professor. Now fangled methods did not commend themselves and, therefore, the major mind was not in the temper to be materially profited. She who believes there is nothing better than a certain way because it was done that way by her mother, or for "a thousand years" is not apt to be an apt scholar.

Still, it can not be correctly argued the school was a dismal failure. Nothing is so difficult as changing the habits and ways of the masses, but there were those, mostly young housekeepers, who had an earnest purpose, who confessed their lack of accomplishment and were sincerely anxious to learn. It was easy for them to receive the thought that a great government would not put out a fake, nor deliberately impose upon its own people. What it offered must be established by experiment and results. With intensity they drank in the lessons and demonstrations and what they learned will hereafter be brought into their own work and expanded. In the course of time the custom and habit of the people will develop from them and thus the work of the school actually benefited. It might be Portsmouth could secure the school, and here where the question of the servant girl is constantly growing more acute its lessons ought to be particularly advantageous.

Every G. O. P. organ in the state is running a canned article a column long, giving forth exultation over the achievement of the Willis administration. And what think you is the basis of that boasted achievement? Nothing more, nothing less, as the advertisement says, than a paragraph from the Scripps-McRae newspapers, saying the assembly deserves credit because it will not vote upon some seven hundred bills introduced in it.

GET TOGETHER CLUB BANQUET NO. 5--INTRODUCING THE SECOND TABLE

LOOKING FOR A CAR.

In a town we know but the name of which it is not necessary to mention, there are a man and a wife, who are enjoying one of the greatest, at least one of the most raging, of modern luxuries and it isn't costing them a cent, beyond the twenty-five that they originally laid out to come into full enjoyment of that for which others pay hundreds and even thousands of dollars.

The man is real shifty, in no wise dishonest, but ever managing to get more for his money than the average person. He is not the owner of an automobile, but he would like to be and means to be, and he is going about acquiring ownership after his own peculiar methods. Through the medium of an advertisement he let it be known that he was in the market for a used automobile. He is learning a good deal and his days and even his nights are filled with pleasure. He knows now that about seven out of ten men having automobiles want to get rid of them—to get a new one, and everyone has undoubtedly the best, that he is still willing to dispose of at a tremendous sacrifice. It is borne upon him how solicitous and obliging are his friends, when they have something to sell, or more accurately when there is a buyer in sight, and ditto how clever the stranger. No trouble whatever to take him and wife a little spin and they have been to this town and to that and they are going to others. This they will keep up until the man sees a real bargain in a car. Then he will snap it up at once and becoming an auto owner himself he will be not one whit more obliging or clever than those he is haggling with before they knew he was a prospective buyer.

Oh, trouble ahead for that new bird headed congressman of ours. The Susan B. Anthony Suffragette club of Washington, D. C., has decided to send a strong delegation of suffragettes to interview and labor with each congressman prior to the assembling of the new congress. We can give the Susan B's a better tip than that. Why not have the local Susanites wait en masse upon Congressman Charlton when he drops into Portsmouth to attend that Dollar feed of patriots in honor of our great and grand young governor?

Merely, me! Here were these well farers and up-lifters whang-doodling around we must have swimming pools in school buildings to keep the pupils clean and healthy and now come a lot of physicians and others and say we must keep the swimming pool clean, or it is the worst evil ever invented. Which just reminds us life is one spasm and then another.

One day our good young governor, announces he was not chosen to and will not run the assembly; the next day, he announces he was elected on certain pledges and they must be redeemed by the assembly. Thereupon in its fool way the assembly proceeds to fill the orders of our good young governor.

Ignorance of the law is no excuse, neither is it a defence against crime, but really that is no reason why the legislature should go unthru for passing laws that none of its members know a whit of.

Portsmouth, Virginia, is going to try a new form of government in the hopes of getting a better one. What's the matter with trying better men to run the government? Form is nothing, it's results that count.

A lot of fellows, who are hoping to get their feet under the pin counter are making a deal of fuss about a banquet to be given locally to Harding and Willis. Not a mother's son of them is moving a peg to get state aid for Scioto county roads.

Elza Evans, an Irving Drew company employee, spent Friday fishing along the Scioto river. Elza had so much luck that Everett Webb, of Gay street, went with him Saturday to wage war on the flimy tribe.

The Worker

He wasn't feeling very well, he had an aching head. He really would have liked to rest, but went to work instantly. He didn't stop to whimper, and he didn't pause to whine. He passed up all excuses, and he snatched into the line. He could have loafed but didn't and he finished up the day. With another task accomplished and his aches all blown away.

He had many things to fret him, when he rose to start the day, there were many little voices urging him to stay away. And they whispered: "You have reasons that are splendid now to rest. You are in a poor condition, and you'll never do your best!" But he bickered on his armor, and he plunged into the daily. And he made another record when he got back home at night.

He knew what he was after, and he sought it, rain or shine. He didn't labor only on the days his health was fine. No simple rule could stop him; he went right on working. And when little worries fretted, he just did the best he could. He never looked for reasons to escape the tasks that came. When he might have loafed, he didn't, but went out and played at the game.

He possessed the fighting spirit, he was bound to reach the top. He was not the sort of worker that is always quick to stop. He was not the sort of fellow that is glad to lose a day. That rejoices in a reason that is good to stay away.

But he answered aches and worry with a like amount of pluck. And when he rose to glory, people spoke about his luck.

Speaking of Obnoxious
Webster's Imperial dictionary says that a chicken is "a young and inexperienced person." But that dictionary was published in 1911. In the past four years chickens have accumulated experience. If not years, says G. S. Goshorn in the Akron Beacon-Journal.
